PRISONER'S NERVE BREAKING AS HOPE FADES

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 31.—Early in January the League of Women Voters began sending out pledge cards in a drive to get half a million signatures. Their plan is to petition the political parties "to abolish the Spoils System in federal, state and local government."

There is undoubtedly an evil that is more and more recognized in having the postmaster general the distributor of political patronage. It would be an excellent thing if that position could be as separate and removed from partisan politics as the office of controller general.

But it is going to be very difficult to persuade the leaders in either party to consider the problem in anything but general terms. The best hope is that the breakdown of the Civil Service has become so apparent and alarming that no politician will dare to dodge the issue it presents.

Why not make an honest beginning towards ending the Spoils System by making unlawful for an active politician to hold the position of postmaster general?

David Pepper, of 4940 Chancellor street, Philadelphia, is desirous of locating shipmates who served with him on the U. S. S. Missouri in 1911 and 1912, and the U. S. S. Prairie in 1912. If there are any such naval veterans in this city, they are asked to communicate with him at the above address.

In the midst of yesterday afternoon's traffic downtown, a small crowd refused to function. The operator donned an old pair of gloves, reached in the back compartment of the car, pulled out a box filled with tools and went to work, while three female occupants of the car looked on. The incident occurred on North Mill street.

One middle aged man greeted the mild return of winter this morning by wearing a pair of ear muffs. Young Pa Newc saw the man walking along South Mill street, about 7 o'clock.

For the past few weeks Young Pa Newc has heard several motorists complain about boys traveling on much used highways on bicycles during the evening hours. The new Wilmington and Ellwood City roads appear to be the haven for the "cyclists." The practice is dangerous.

Today's temperature was quite a contrast from that of yesterday, a drop of 42 degrees being registered during the night. Summer-like breezes played about Monday afternoon while the mercury stood at 75. This morning it was down to the freezing point.

And in case it has slipped your mind, Wednesday is April 1.

Pa Newc is informed that another real sign of spring has been prevalent during the past few days—frogs have been croaking in chorus for the first time this year.

STATE PLANNING BOARD GIVES PLAN

Series Of Dams, Dikes And Levees Proposed To Bottle Up Floods

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 31.—Pennsylvania's first statewide flood control and river development program, a long-range program estimated to cost $99,124,000, was before state officials for consideration today.

The program, recommended in a report submitted by the state planning board to Gov. George H. Earle, proposes not only flood control in the state, but also the control of low water, water supply, navigation, stream pollution, power, reforestation and soil erosion.

Various interests involved in the proposed program, the board said, are already in agreement as to many features of the recommendations, and construction could be started at once on these projects.

In its report the board coordinated several plans proposed by the U. S. army engineers, the state department of forests and waters, the tri-state authority, Mississippi Valley committee of the public works administration, Pittsburgh flood commission, water planning committee of the national resources board and the association of Schuylkill Valley municipalities.

Would Be Added Cost

While cost of the dams, impounding reservoirs, dikes and levees proposed in the report were estimated at $99,124,000, the board said this did not include the cost of constructing power plants and water supply conduits that should be included. Financing of the program, the board recommended, should be divided between the federal government, the state and the localities benefited.

A series of dams and impounding reservoirs was proposed for flood control in the Pittsburgh area. On (Continued On Page Two)

Two Truckloads Of Food, Clothing, And Bedding Sent To Flood Area

CONTRIBUTIONS STILL COME IN

Additional supplies of food, clothing and bedding have been sent out by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, to the Pittsburgh district for the use of flood sufferers, it was stated today.

A truck load of such supplies went to Vandegrift yesterday. Red Cross headquarters here reported, while today, a truck load will be sent to McKees Rocks, part of which was collected by the colored lodge of Elks.

Reports are still being awaited from the Elks community party, and the moving picture shows held Friday evening for the benefit of the Red Cross fund. The fact that many tickets are still outstanding has held up the reports on both these functions.

Contributions of money and food and clothing are still coming in daily, the Lawrence County Chapter office reported today.

Controversy On Flood Control Damage Costs

Army Engineers Urge That Benefitting Localities Pay Share Of Cost

HUGE DAMAGES ARE FORESEEN

Major Controversy Develops In Senate Over Flood Control Bill

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—A recommendation of army engineers that benefiting localities pay a fair share of the cost of flood relief projects, today provoked a major controversy in the senate over the $385,000,000 Wilson-Copeland flood control bill.

The army engineers recommended that states and communities pay all damages, when reservoirs are constructed, if the damages are less than construction costs. In cases where the damages exceed construction costs, the engineers recommended the total cost be shared equally between federal and local government.

Violent Opposition

Sponsors of interstate projects flared into violent opposition against this rule. They charged it would block construction of many badly needed projects, by provoking endless controversy between states and communities over allocation of local costs.

Numerous instances were cited to show how the rule would block construction of life and property saving projects in areas recently subjected to floods. One was the proposed $13,373,000 project to protect Connecticut river valley. It was pointed out that $344,100 of this would have to be allocated somehow between the states and cities of New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut under the army rule. One protestant declared an agreement over distribution of this local cost "would require 100 years."

Protest By Ohio River Sponsors

A similar protest came from sponsors of the Ohio river flood control program. This program will include projects, costing $55,215,000 in the Pittsburgh area and $30,136,400 in the Ohio Valley below Pittsburgh. Under the army rule, a total of $47,573,400 would be paid by the federal government but $37,779,000 would have to be divided by local states and communities.

Objection was made it would be virtually impossible to allocate the costs on the basis of benefits from the program, because construction of the works might even save New Orleans from a Mississippi river flood. Opponents of the army rule further charged it would be impossible to get even Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky to agree on a division of costs on the basis of local benefits. CITE CONDITIONS FACED BY PLANTS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—The voice of public opinion in the form of petitions from thousands of workers and residents in the Beaver-Mahoning river districts of Pennsylvania and Ohio was invoked today to improve the army board of engineers to approve the development of water transportation in those districts.

The petitions were presented to the board by H. H. Hoppe, chairman of the Ohio group, at the resumption of hearings on the proposed plan for the development of a canal via the Beaver, Mahoning and Grand rivers from Lake Erie to the Ohio river.

Among the organizations in the group which appealed to the army engineers through the form of petitions and resolutions were local posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars at Warren, Ohio; local labor organizations; the Business and Professional Women's club of Warren; the Rotary club of Niles, Ohio and the Niles Board of Trade; American Legion (Continued On Page Two)

If Newport Wins, State Battle Will Be At Pitt

The reason for the uncertainty in the naming of the site for the final game of the Pennsylvania Inter-scholastic Athletic League basketball game has been made known.

It has been said that if Newport wins the game tonight in Harrisburg, the state championship will be played off in Pitt stadium, while if Lebanon wins, the game will be played in Harrisburg.

The reason is this. Newport is a small place in Luzerne county about 20 miles from Wilkes-Barre. The potential number of fans who would accompany the team is small and New Castle's drawing power is large, hence the proximity of Pittsburgh to New Castle would mean a crowd.

Lebanon is a good sized city and if their team wins tonight the potential drawing power would be large. Lebanon being about 30 miles from Harrisburg and a crowd could be expected to go in. State College, the logical spot for a state championship game is far from either city. It is felt and would attract relatively few spectators.

Wherever the game is played it will be an evening game starting at 8 o'clock. If Lebanon wins tonight the final New Castle-Lebanon game will be played on Zumbo Mosque floor, at Harrisburg.

Do Not Believe That Hauptmann Will Talk

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 31.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann will take his secret with him when he shuffles off to eternity tonight.

Those dark, untold chapters of the "crime of the century," for which he has been offered a king's ransom, will be locked tight in the inner-most recesses of his unusual brain as he strains and twists in the electric chair.

He will never talk.

This—in spite of whispers about secret confessions made and posthumous revelations to come—was the unanimous prediction today of every official, of every friend and every foe who has come to know this weird criminal.

Will Never Confess

They give different reasons for thinking it, but all are convinced no confession will pass through those thin lips.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the nation's G-men, whose prodigious work made Hauptmann's arrest possible, long ago confided to intimates: "Hauptmann will never confess. In the first place his ego would not permit it. In the second place he (Continued On Page Two)

Vera Stretz To Retell Her Story Of Shooting

NEW YORK, Mar. 31.—For the second time in as many days honey haired Vera Stretz today will retrace her steps of last Nov. 12, the steps that led her to room 2114 of the fashionable Beekman Towers where, in the predawn dark and silence, she shot and killed Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, her married "superman" lover.

Shamefaced, sob-wracked, shivering at the memory she told the tale of that journey under the sympathetic guidance of Samuel Leibowitz, battling to save her from the electric chair.

Must Re-Tell Story

Today she must tell it again, under the hammering cross-examination of assistant district attorney Miles O'Brien.

The story, that of a lover turned monster, came as a climax to Leibowitz' direct examination of the blonde, cultured defendant.

Between bursts of convulsing sobbing, she told of Gebhardt telephoning her at her room on the 19th floor of the same hotel, telling her "Vera, I'm in great pain. I'm afraid (Continued On Page Two)

GOV. HOFFMAN WILL GRANT NO NEW REPRIEVE

STATE HOUSE, Trenton, N. J., Mar. 31.—Governor Hoffman will remain in his office here tonight while they are putting Bruno Hauptmann to death in the state prison, two miles away.

And while the governor has flatly declared there will be no further reprieve, he told this writer that he will keep a telephone line open to Col. Mark O. Kimberling, the prison warden, until Hauptmann is pronounced dead.

"I will also be able to get in touch with Attorney General Wilentz on instant notice," the governor added.

"Why, if you are not going to give another reprieve, are you going to keep in such close touch with the prison and the attorney general?" The writer asked.

The governor shrugged.

"I intend to be prepared for any unpredictable happening or emergency, that's all."

Governor Hoffman made it clear, however, that he has no intention of granting a reprieve in return for a desperate last minute confession from Hauptmann.

STATE PRISON Trenton, N. J., Mar. 31.—Cracking badly and in tears, Bruno Richard Hauptmann declared today that if the State of New Jersey executes him tonight they will be taking the life of an "innocent man".

The convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby broke down and wept as he talked to Col. Mark O. Kimberling, principal keeper of the prison.

Hauptmann's head was shaved shortly before noon as he was prepared for the chair.

Hauptmann Weeping

Kimberling talking to newspaper men late this morning said he visited Hauptmann in his cell about 9:30 a. m., and talked with him for about half an hour. He found that the prisoner had broken down and was weeping.

"It was three or four minutes before he could straighten up so we could talk," said Kimberling.

"Hauptmann maintains his innocence," Kimberling announced, standing on the front steps of the prison and addressing a large throng of newspaper reporters.

"He says he has no changes to make.

"Any changes he would make, he said, would not be borne out by the truth. He said he has told all, that he told the truth from the start to the finish."

Refuses To Eat

Hauptmann was feeling so badly he declined to eat any breakfast this morning. He turned his meal over to Charles Zeid, another inmate of the death house, a Philadelphia gangster, who is to precede Hauptmann to the electric chair tonight.

New German Dirigible Starts Ocean Flight

(International News Service)
ABOARD DIRIGIBLE VON HINDENBURG, En Route Friedrichshafen-Rio De Janeiro, Mar. 31.—Forced by international tension to skirt France, thereby adding eight hours to her journey and sacrificing the possibility of a trans-Atlantic record, the largest dirigible ever built, the Von Hindenburg, left Friedrichshafen at 5:30 a. m. today on her maiden voyage to Rio De Janeiro.

In brilliant weather, the 817-foot-long airship nosed easily out of her hangar and turned surprisingly down the Rhine, where Hitler had posted troops three weeks before, instead of taking the Graf Zeppelin's old course across France and Spain.

A few minutes before 10 o'clock, the thin spires of the Cathedral at Cologne were passed, and the Von Hindenburg's commander, Capt. Ernest A. Lehmann, sent her towards Holland and out to sea.

Permission to fly over France had been formally requested some time ago. It was explained to those abroad, but the application, usually regarded merely as routine, was "apparently ignored."

SEEK TO PROTECT FLEET

U. S. Secrets Not Well Protected

Officers Of Fleet Are Concerned Over Recent Developments

WATCH ACTIVITY OF COMMUNISTS

By RALPH B. JORDON
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Cal., Mar. 31.—High officers of the United States fleet, which now lies at its regular anchorage in the harbor here, would like to see the secrets of Uncle Sam's fighting craft given better protection from spying eyes.

The lack of protection for the fleet has been a matter of concern with these officers for several years but has been brought into the spotlight recently by several arrests in Southern California charged with espionage, notably the case of George Melvin, 22-year-old spy suspect, who underwent a rigid examination here by naval intelligence officers and was released. He was accused of offering to triple an enlisted man's income in exchange for certain information having to do with guns and torpedo tubes, but claimed he just sought material for a fiction story.

Pestered By Girls

Also, shore patrol officers report they still are "pestered" with good-looking girls loitering around the docks trying to pick up blue-jackets and preach to them the doctrines of communism, the red ideals that the sailors should be prepared to "take over" the fleet in an emergency, or at least damage it so it would be useless. Two girls were arrested on this charge, but subsequently released.

However, the men in the fleet who are heavy with gold braid are not much excited over these and other recent espionage cases.

"We're not afraid of the communists," one commander told International News Service. "They can't make any inroads among our personnel. Our men are too loyal anyway, we watch these communists too closely. We know what they're doing, who they're talking to, and we watch the men who might be influenced by them."

"But these arrests on espionage charges, and the resultant excitement, give us a smile. It's like trying to sweep back the Pacific Ocean with a broom. Any unfriendly power interested in obtaining any of our naval secrets should have no trouble whatever, and certainly wouldn't have to resort to such obvious and stupid means as hiring men to talk to strange American sailors."

will keep hoping that silence will save him until he is strapped in the chair and the switch is thrown."

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the Jersey State Police, said from the time Hauptmann was brought to this state, in October, 1934:

"He'll never confess. He'll gamble to the end of his brains and will." Similar opinions were voiced by Captain Lamb and Lieutenant Keaton of the state police, and by Thomas Sisk, former head of the famous Lindbergh squad who told this writer before Hauptmann's conviction:

"He's as guilty as he can be, but he will never admit a word of it. Never as long as he lives."

Has Told All He's Going To

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, who has had Hauptmann in his custody for 13 months, says: "Hauptmann has told the world all he's going to. He won't change his story."

C. Lloyd Fisher, Hauptmann's youthful lawyer who has fought such a staunch fight for his client offers an entirely different reason. "He won't talk because he has told all there is to say," Fisher said. "He has nothing to confess. He has been promised $75,000 and many other things in exchange for a confession. If he'd remain silent then, what reason is there to think he will say anything now?"

Similar views were expressed by Governor Hoffman and the Rev. John Matthiessen, the doomed man's spiritual adviser.

Even Attorney-General Wilentz is doubtful now. During his unforgettable summation at the trial he sent a shudder through the courtroom when he cried:

"Oh, he's a man of ice all right. But he'll melt. He'll thaw when he hears that switch."

Today he shook his head when asked if he thinks the ex-kaiser's machine-gunner will unburden his soul of the crime.

Opinion Of Jurors

The jurors who decreed his death doubt that Hauptmann will tell his grisly story tonight. Foreman Charles Walton expressed their general opinion when he told this writer:

"He thinks too much of himself to ever confess. He'd pride himself on cheating the world of his secret. For that alone he'd keep his mouth shut to the end."

But, despite these opinions, will the man of iron remain unbending through the white-hot test he must pass tonight?

He had a hundred times more reason to break tonight than ever before. He has been offered a chance at life for a truthful confession naming accomplices. And then, just 30 minutes before he is to go, he must watch a deathhouse friend walk that "last mile."

Charles Zied, small-time gangster, murderer of a Camden policeman, who has been Hauptmann's deathhouse mate for many weeks, must walk past the former carpenter's cell on the way to the electric chair at 8 p. m.

PETITIONS FOR CANAL GIVEN

Post of Newton Falls, Pa., and the Catholic Women's Union and the Owls club of Beaver Falls, Pa.

Petitions Presented

The petitions were presented with a warning from Hoppe that industrial life in the Beaver and Mahoning districts was being "strangled" by lack of water transportation.

"Typical of this industrial strangulation is the case of Newton Falls," he said. "That community was stricken with virtual economic disaster when its steel mill moved to Monroe, Mich. But what happened in that case? The government spent $100,000 to improve the river at Monroe for the steel mills in order to provide cheap water transportation for it."

"This is the sort of competition which we have been unable to meet," Hoppe said. "Attacking railroad propaganda against development of water transportation in the Beaver and Mahoning districts, Hoppe warned that the railroads were literally cutting their own throats by permitting industrial stagnation in those districts."

He asserted that the railroads lost 1½ million tons of freight by the removal of the Newton Steel mill to Michigan.

Lost Steel Mills

"Niles also lost two steel mills, demolished and torn down simply because you could not find anyone to operate them," he added. "You could not find anyone to operate them because people met you with the argument that because of the competitive situation, they would have to be in a location where both water and rail transportation was available."

Now it's true that the arguments we have presented here are in some respects selfish in their nature, but we are not asking for anything more than what we ourselves have contributed in the past to give to other sections.

"We paid our share of the development of water transportation in the Monongahela river area and on the Great Lakes. We are not asking any advantage over those other districts, but simply that we be placed on an equal basis of competition with them."

Hoppe asserted that the benefits from development of the canal would accrue to 50 percent of the population of the entire United States.

Others who appeared before the board today included Mayor John Borak of Campbell, Ohio; H. A. Sigmier, president of the United Labor Council of Campbell; Mayor Fred Williams of Niles; Mayor G. A. Bjorson, of Warren and Mayor D. A. Bailey, Jr., of Newton Falls.

STATE FLOOD CONTROL PLAN IS PRESENTED

the projects, which would cost $55,215,000, one would be located on the west fork of the Monongahela river in West Virginia, one at the headwaters of the Allegheny river, and the others in the Allegheny basin at Conemaugh, French creek, Tionesta creek, Red Bank creek, Mahoning creek, Crooked creek and Loyalhanna creek.

No new dams or reservoirs were recommended for the Juniata river area. The board said reforestation, channel improvement and soil erosion measures comprise the problem in that district.

A series of dikes and levees was proposed for the Susquehanna river basin, since the board found the river does not lend itself to dam and reservoir construction. Cost of such improvements on the Susquehanna, excluding the Juniata, was estimated at $12,266,500.

Dams and reservoirs, estimated to cost $23,222,500, were proposed for flood control in the Delaware river basin, while channel dredging, embankments, dikes and levees were recommended to curb floods in the Schuylkill river basin. These would cost $8,420,000.

Pointing out such a program was necessary and that its completion involved inter-state action, the board concluded:

"Unless Pennsylvania and its neighboring states formulate a comprehensive, long-range program to meet these problems, we can look for worse floods, worse disaster, increased economic loss, and more human suffering in the future."

SENIOR CHOR

A monthly meeting of the Second Baptist senior choir will take place Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Sally Watkins, West North street.

UNITED HOLY CHURCH

Beginning Wednesday night, April 1, there will be services at St. John's United Holy church with different pastors and their congregations participating. These meetings will continue until April 10.

The speakers for this week are as follows:

Wednesday night—Rev. Curtis E. Wilkins, pastor of the United Holy church at Wampum. His congregation will accompany him.

Thursday night—Rev. Richard Owey, pastor of the People's Mission on Sampson street.

Friday night—Rev. Samuel Baker, pastor of the Clifton Flats Mission, accompanied by his congregation. Speakers for next week will be published later.

RISEING STAR CLUB

Mrs. Mary Cooper will entertain the members of the Rising Star club in her home, 225 Weaver street, on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The hot springs in Hot Springs, Ark., have temperatures from 76 degrees to 157 degrees Fahrenheit, and are especially beneficial in the treatment of chronic diseases.

Deaths of the Day

William Dix Funeral.

Funeral services for William J. Dix of Chestnut street, were conducted in the Hodge funeral home at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon with Rev. J. H. Boon, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, in charge, assisted by Rev. C. H. Heaton, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. J. A. Deenan and Mrs. Howard S. Duff sang two beautiful numbers, "Rock of Ages" and "Sometime We'll Understand."

The pallbearers were Richard Hill, John Earhart, Charles Derry, Robert E. Barkley, D. R. Campbell and Frank Wimer. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

On Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the I. O. O. F. conducted a special service which was attended by its members and that of the F. P. A. in a body. Floyd Houk was the acting noble grand and Arthur Meek the chaplain.

A quartet from the I. O. O. F., Richard Hill, Arthur Meek, William Richardson and Frank Norris, sang "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," and "Nearer My God To Thee."

Mrs. Belle E. Rice Funeral.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Belle E. Rice were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home 126 Richelieu avenue, with the Rev. Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church reading the scripture.

The profusion of flowers that filled one entire room was evidence of the high esteem in which the late deceased was held among a wide circle of friends.

Pallbearers were Frank Johnston, Vic Smith, Howard Phillips, Ed Young, Harry P. McBride and Dick Moffett.

Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. William R. Davis.

Mrs. Etta Lillian Davis, aged 50 years, wife of William R. Davis, of 7 Cliff street, died at the Jameson Memorial hospital Monday night after a short illness.

Mrs. Davis had resided in New Castle for 20 years and was an active member of the Second Baptist church. She took an interested part in all activities of the auxiliaries and a member of the choir.

She leaves to mourn her, in addition to her husband, one son, Charles Foster, by a former marriage, her mother, Mrs. Virginia Patterson, a sister, Mrs. Martha Baker, of Maryland, and three brothers, Taskoo Wheeler, of New Castle, John Wheeler, of West Virginia, and Albert Patterson, of Columbus, O.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Second Baptist church, with the pastor, Rev. W. W. Nelson, in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

John J. Griffin.

John J. Griffin, aged 66 years, died at his home, 1326 East Brook street, suddenly at 10 o'clock Monday night, after only a short illness.

Mr. Griffin was born in New Castle on May 9, 1869, son of John and Anna Mooney Griffin, and had passed his lifetime here. Years ago he was employed as a glass blower here, and was later with the Johnson Bros. Company.

He had been married for forty years and in addition to his wife, Minnie Sullivan Griffin, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. R. J. Travers, of Youngstown, O., and one brother, Luke J. Griffin, of Olean, N. Y. His sister, Mrs. Margaret Meehan, of Youngstown, O., preceded him in death one year ago.

Mr. Griffin was a member of St. Mary's church and had many friends.

The body may be seen at the home after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The time of the funeral will be announced later.

CONTROVERSY ON FLOOD CONTROL DAMAGE COSTS

over this issue, they said, would block all construction work.

Huge Damage Costs

Out of the $385,000,000 of projects now listed in the much revised bill, some $65,000,000 involved damage costs. This covered purchase of lands for reservoirs and relocation of railroads and highways.

The bill reached its new $385,000,000 total through restoration of projects previously dropped by the senate commerce committee on the ground they were not "economically justified." These items were scattered along rivers in Kansas, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Arkansas. The largest were $4,695,300 for the White river in Arkansas and $2,540,000 to protect Momence, Ill.

The committee awaited a special army engineer report on flood projects that may be developed in lieu of power projects.

There was strong support for two bills sponsored by Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts. One would increase the capital of the RFC by $25,000,000 to finance loans to industries, stricken in the floods. The other would amend the National Housing act to facilitate FHA loans to home-owners and industries for repairing damaged or destroyed properties.

Governor Delays Washington Trip

Plans Are Altered At Last Moment When Jones Cannot Be Contacted

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 31.—Altering his plans at the last minute, Gov. George H. Egan today postponed indefinitely his contemplated trip to Washington.

The trip was delayed, the governor said, when he learned Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, was not in Washington at the present time. The chief executive had planned to see Jones to obtain some assurance of adequate loans to small business organizations of the state which suffered great losses in the flood.

Governor Egan also planned to see officials of the federal housing administration and the national Red Cross, but said he would confer with them later in the course of a few weeks when he makes the trip to Washington.

She couldn't remember how many shots she fired, how many times she pulled the trigger. She remembered Gebhardt grabbed her, struggled with her, and then, as so many women have said so many times in the same dusky courtroom, "The gun went off."

Pleats, pleats and more pleats says one exclusive modiste.

'DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM FOR THE MUSIC CLUB

On Tuesday evening at Highland church with Mrs. Dorothy Gormley Smith as hostess, members of the Music Club presented an interesting program of Russian and Modern compositions.

Song groups in diverse styles were given by Mrs. Harry L. Gormley, Mrs. Gomer Emery, and Sam McCleary, and were received in an appreciative manner. Joe F. Replogle gave an unusual touch to the program in the rendition of a cello solo.

The musical part of the program was concluded with two piano numbers in contrasting mood, played by Miss Helen Ewing.

Another novel feature of the evening was a short lecture on the subject, "Analysis of the Fugue Form" presented by Mrs. D. Duff Scott. This was illustrated by excerpts from different works in Fugue style played on the piano. The subject was given in a clear and understandable way, which interested even those not so familiar with it.

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. D. Duff Scott and Albert Taylor.

Announcements were made that on Monday evening, April 13, the Butler club will be here to present a very worthwhile program. Rehearsals of the Music Club Chorus, for the May Program, will be initiated on April 14. For this program, the chorus will be augmented with male voices under direction of Albert Taylor.

The next regular meeting, on April 27, will feature a program of German music.

S. M. F. Club

Members of the S. M. F. club will be entertained on Tuesday, April 7, at the home of Ruth Simons, Northview avenue. Their last gathering was held in the home of Dorothy Cooper of Meyer avenue who entertained informally with cards and dancing. Miss Greta Jackson was fortunate in winning the honor score award, and they had as their special guest, Mrs. May Cooper.

In serving lunch, the hostess carried out a color scheme of yellow and white, appropriate to the Easter season.

MINISTERS WIVES HEAR TRAVEL TALKS

Ministers Wives enjoyed a delightfully informal evening Monday, in the home of Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, on Leasure avenue, with an attendance of 14 guests.

Games provided pleasure, together with interesting descriptive talks on trips to Florida the past winter by Miss Mary Alice White and Mrs. C. G. Bennett, while both Dr. and Mrs. McIlvaine spoke of their journey west. Daintily arranged refreshments concluded the evening.

On the third Monday of April, the next meeting will take place in the home of Mrs. Robert Withers, on Garfield avenue.

MR. AND MRS. LOVE RECEIVE YUCATAN CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Love entertained in their North Jefferson street home Monday evening, members of the Yucatan club at their usual social event. Seven tables of old fashioned four-handed euchre, filled in the hours, with prizes being awarded to several holding honor scores.

Afterwards a tempting menu of refreshments was served, bringing the evening to a close.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS AT QUOTA

The "Drive Safely" campaign was presented to members of Quota club at their regular weekly meeting in the Elks club Monday evening. Attorney James E. Chambers, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the sponsors of this "drive" in New Castle, and Ross H. Kirkpatrick, Safety Director of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., Shenango Works, were speakers.

Mr. Kirkpatrick stressed the great need in America today, for some measures of safety in the home and school and particularly on the highway, from whence comes our greatest number of casualties, while Attorney Chambers spoke at length along the same lines, familiarizing Quotarians with the work being done by the Junior business men.

MRS. C. H. MARTIN HEADS CIRCLE '91

Heading the Circle of '91 again this year will be Mrs. C. H. Martin who was re-elected as president at the meeting Monday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. J. M. Blackwood, on East Washington street.

Others re-elected were Mrs. Roy M. Jamison, first vice president; Mrs. C. L. Stryder, recording secretary; Mrs. Harvey Robinson, treasurer. New officers are: Mrs. W. E. Porter, second vice president; Mrs. David Rees, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. B. Love, parliamentarian.

After answering roll call with current events, the members listened to a program of interest which included the following poems: The Debutante—Guy Wetmore Carryl; Mrs. Thomas Lindsey; Wind Litany—Margaret Widdemer; Mrs. L. G. Nall; Each In His Own Tongue—William Herbert Carruth; Mrs. Marshall.

The next meeting is dated for April 13 in the home of Mrs. W. J. Marshall, Court street.

WING-BLANNING WEDDING IN WEST

From Colorado Springs, Colo., comes announcement today, from Colonel and Mrs. Franklin Fearing Wing, of the marriage of their daughter, Virginia Masi, to James Chester Blanning, lieutenant of cavalry, son of Mrs. E. J. Blanning of Highland avenue, this city.

The ceremony took place February 29, in Westmoreland, Kan., and the young couple are taking up their residence at Fort Riley, Kan.

SIX O'CLOCK CLUB GUESTS AT DINNER

Six O'clock Dinner club members were entertained in a charming manner Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Doyle on East Morton street, hosts. The group partook of a deliciously prepared dinner menu at 6 o'clock, served at a table attractively arranged in tones of yellow and white, a cluster of spring flowers adorning the center.

Contests occupied the leisure time that ensued, bridge prizes being carried off by John Morgan, Mrs. Walter Gilmore and Dr. G. S. Jenkins, at conclusion of play. In bingo, Mrs. William Jones and J. M. Everhart received the awards.

Their next regular assemblage, scheduled for Monday, April 27, will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, Highland avenue.

Home From West

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McCracken, of Leasure avenue, have returned from a western trip, which took them through many states. They left here in December and spent some time at Phoenix, Ariz., where they visited with Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Flaherty, former residents of New Castle. Afterwards, they went on to Los Angeles, Calif., where they remained until March 19, after which they visited friends and relatives in San Francisco, and en route home, stopped off at Omaha and Oakland, Neb., where they visited other friends. They arrived home on Saturday evening.

Election And Noted Speaker Feature Woman's Club Monday

Woman's club of New Castle elected Mrs. Harry L. Gormley as its new president at the meeting, Monday afternoon, in Highland U. P. church. Mrs. Gormley has served efficiently, during the past year, as recording secretary.

Serving with her in the new cabinet will be Mrs. R. S. Tannehill, who retires as president, after a year's faithful work, to become first vice president; Mrs. Harry Urmson, second vice president; Mrs. A. B. Foster, recording secretary; Mrs. Orville Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles E. Allen, treasurer; Mrs. W. A. Pond, historian; Mrs. Frank Woods, parliamentarian.

Other important business matters transacted was voting of a sum of $25 to the Red Cross, proceeds from the recent style show held in the New Castle Dry Goods store; an announcement was made that members of the Woman's club will have an opportunity to hear Eugene Cecil Van Wyk, whose lecture on March 12 had to be postponed; he will appear on May 19, before a meeting of the Lawrence County Federation when the Woman's club will act as hostesses.

Climaxing a series of travel lectures in which they have toured the Orient with Richard Halliburton, visited Russia with Countess Scartina, the large audience of Woman's club members yesterday, sailed the high seas with Commodore Herbert Hartley, former commander of the S. S. Leviathan, who spoke on the subject, "Sixty Thousand Tons of Responsibility." He was introduced by Mrs. Charles E. Allen, who with Mrs. Alvan Shumaker, has arranged the delightful entertainment programs this season.

Speaking of the Leviathan, one is reminded that this great trans-Atlantic liner, formerly known as The Duetchland, was acquired by the United States as a prize of war.

President Woodrow Wilson suggested she be renamed Leviathan, meaning "monster of the deep." In speaking of his responsibilities aboard ship, Commodore Hartley summarized his duties, by saying "The captain of an ocean liner must be navigator, judge, lawyer, housekeeper, social leader and business man at the same time." Some job on a ship, which for size, was so big, that, as the speaker humorously said, it could be envisioned from a question asked by a passenger—after she had been on board two days—"Where can I see the ocean?"

Among his trials and tribulations, was the seating of the 800 guests; dividing the prize fighters from royalty and highly temperamental opera singers. One day, in arranging a birthday party, in mid-ocean, for Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, he discovered at the last minute, his orders had been misunderstood, and that instead of the banquet being laid in the private dining room, which honored Woodrow Wilson, one of our foremost Democrats, the tables had been arranged in the Republican private dining room which honored the great leader, Teddy Roosevelt!

In a humorous and highly entertaining manner, he reminisced about many notables who have crossed the seas under his hostship: Queen Marie, of Roumania, Leopold, King of the Belgians, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Will Rogers, Chief Justice Hughes, famous actresses and actors, and many other celebrities. He performed a number of marriages at sea, the most outstanding being the ceremony which united the late Nora Bayes, famous actress, with her fifth husband.

In a more serious vein, the Commodore told of thrilling and hazardous journeys; struggling against fire and storm, relating that at one time he remained on the bridge as long as 72 hours to bring safely into port, the 5,000 lives entrusted to his care. His experiences during the World War formed another adventurous chapter. As commander of the "Lucky Louisville," he took the first shipment of ammunition across to France, in defiance of the German ultimatum restricting America's freedom of the seas.

He told of a seaman's greatest anxiety in time of war: Not the threat of torpedo, submarine, or mine, but extreme danger of traveling at night without lights. Years after the War, he was a guest at a banquet in Germany, and by a coincidence, one of his fellow guests was the commander of a submarine with whom he had exchanged shots during the war. "We congratulated each other," said Hartley, "on our poor marksmanship."

Commodore Hartley served 35 years at sea. He paid tribute to a little old English woman who inspired him when he was serving as a menial seaman at $15 a month, to take his books with him to his bunk and study at night so that someday he might even become a captain. She lived to see him build up a brilliant career and command the largest ocean liner then afloat.

It was the consensus of opinion that Commodore Hartley's lecture was one of the most informative, as well as entertaining which club members have been privileged to hear for some time past. For the day were Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser and Mrs. Earl Dufford.

The next meeting of the Woman's club will be under the direction of the Juniors. The date has been changed from the evening of April 13 to Thursday evening, April 16, at 8 o'clock, in Highland U. P. church.

SECTION D. REPORTS AND ELECTION HELD

Sunshiny days won over rainy days the past year, according to reports of penny collections given by members of Section D, Y. L. B. of the Third U. P. church, at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. W. R. McKnight, on Adams street. A nice sum for group activities was collected in this manner by the penny a day method, which enabled the women to keep up their interest in class work, as well as keep check on the weather.

An election of officers also featured with the result that officers of the past year were retained: Mrs. Laura Wallace, leader; Mrs. Virgie Wagner, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Mattie Badger, News reporter.

A social period followed the business session when needlework and conversation was enjoyed, and refreshments served by the hostess and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earl McKnight.

O. E. A. CLUB GROUP AT F. FEHL HOME

Delightful hospitality was extended members of the O. E. A. club, in the home of Mrs. Frank Fehl, Northview avenue Monday evening. The hours were pleasantly whiled away with cards contests, attractive prizes going to Mrs. Clarence Armstrong, Mrs. Walter Waide and Mrs. Elmer Thistman. These who participated in the evenings festivities as special guests, included Mrs. Annie Davies, Mrs. Earl Shaffee and Mrs. L. H. Dover, the former receiving the hostess gift.

Appointments in yellow and white, were combined cleverly in the table decorations, where lunch was served at a suitable hour by Mrs. Fehl, Mrs. Harry Hitchings assisted.

CONGRESSMEN TO BE ELECTED TOO

IN NOVEMBER we shall elect a president of these United States. But this is only half the story. We shall also choose at that time the entire membership of the house of representatives and one-third of the senate for our national congress.

The one is not one whit more important than the other, although our attention will be given largely to the presidential campaign. Many of us consider congressional elections merely a necessary evil to be endured at this time. Yet never was greater mistake made.

Under our system of democracy the executive and the legislative branches of our government are presumed to be equal in power and authority. When they are not so we disturb that delicate balance between law making and law enforcement whereby the founders of this nation sought to safeguard our liberties.

For some years we have been permitting too much executive power at Washington. Presidents have been overruling congress. This is not right. Furthermore it is a dangerous practice. This is the reason why congressional elections should be just as important as a presidential choice. This is why we need real legislators at Washington, congressmen able to think, to comprehend, and to have the courage of their convictions.

WHEN LEARNING FAILS

President Angell of Yale in an inspirational address at the celebration of Honors Day by the student body at Wellesley declared that "without the moral qualities of industry, idealism and fidelity to trust, scholarship is too often sterile and mere learning a menace."

College education ought to serve not merely as a means to business accomplishment, but as a foundation for lifelong activity and enjoyment in cultural fields. The college woman who finds her "career" in marriage and motherhood ought to possess spiritual and aesthetic resources as a heritage of her college days. Said Dr. Angell:

"I am increasingly disposed to rate colleges by the degree to which, in addition to imparting true discipline of mind, they succeed in stimulating ennobling tastes which endure and an intellectual curiosity that will not be sated."

The college education, in other words, that is not an abiding influence upon conduct and appreciation with the passage of the years has failed in one of its most essential functions.

THE PHONE GIRL

Readers of newspapers will recall that the last to leave their posts in the Johnston flood area were the telephone operators. These girls stuck to their jobs for 24 hours and practically had to be dragged away when the water reached the second floor of the building in which the telephone exchange was located.

Few people realize that one of the hard working, capable and brave units in all of America's industry is the phone girl, many times multiplied. Countless stories of the heroism and devotion to duty of these girls have been told in other disasters; how they have stuck to their jobs when in imminent personal danger. Some times one wonders if there were men on the job if they would have done as well.

The service they perform is of the nerve-racking kind, especially in times of stress. A deluge of calls, with unnecessary queries and querulous callers without number it is a wonder their nerves are not shot and their patience exhausted. But still they keep to their posts rendering outstanding service when service is badly needed. It is not strange then to read in the papers: "The phone girls were the last to leave their posts."

NOT "ON BORROWED TIME"

Six of the nine justices of the Supreme Court having reached the age of 70 or more are eligible to retirement at full pay of $29,000 a year. To call them superannuated as a group would be the height of absurdity. Chief Justice Hughes will soon be 74, Justice Brandeis is 79, Justice Van Devanter is approaching 77, Justice McReynolds is 74, Justice Sutherland is the same age and Justice Butler is 70. This sextet presents a picture of keen minds which rather sets at naught the popular concept of decadence of the aged.

Men who have arrived at years of full fruition in the upper reaches of mentality are not subject to the rules that can be applied to hard manual labor. A Supreme Court justice does an enormous amount of work during a year, most of which makes no public display. To observe the nine on the bench does not reveal more than a minor percentage of what they really do in the privacy of their homes and offices.

To say that any one of them is a valetudinarian because he has arrived at or gone beyond the Scriptural three score and ten is not to realize the true application of mere years to actual accomplishment. Age is entirely a personal affair to the individual. A man can be outworn at 60, or be alert, intellectually, fifteen years later, especially if he for most of his life has worked with his brains rather than with his hands. The Declaration of Independence states that all men are born equal, but even that is often not strictly true, even in the biological sense. At least they do not stay so.

The Supreme Court is not "a lot of old men" when viewed objectively. It is an aggregation of highly specialized old men, if you wish, but to mention lean and slipped pantaloons in the same breath is to be absurd. Brains, like the steel in a good razor, grow keener with use. There are now six of those "superannuates" on the high bench. Only the politically minded would urge for them a compulsory retirement.

It is careless to say people are growing worse. The difficulty of hiding meanness may be the answer.

Harvard expert says unemployables can be picked out at six years of age. How about a little junior boondoggling?

Important cabinet resignation is again rumored in Washington. Do they expect Mr. Farley to stop playing post office?

Americanism: Arguing bitterly for five months in support of political platforms, accepting its repudiation a year later as the part of wisdom.

A traveler in the West complains that Navajo novelties he bought were made in Latvia. This is not nearly so disillusioning as the discovery that a little St. Patrick's Day trinket, consisting of a green hat with a clay pipe stuck in the band, was a product of Japan.

Statesmen And Politicians.

Lloyd George, who ran the Big War for England, and won with the help of old Clemenceau, not sympathetic with France this time, says England is dangerously involved and "we shall send our young men to die this time on German soil, to punish these arrogant and aggressive Teutons for daring to make preparations for the defense of their own soil against a foreign invader."

Lloyd George is bitter in his denunciation of the suggestion that England be dragged into another war.

"France," says he, "can spend $500,000,000 on the erection of huge fortifications. We can vote plans which involve expenditure of an extra fifteen hundred million dollars for protection. But if the Germans propose to throw up even a pillbox, to guard their famous cities and their greatest industrial area . . . then 'measures must be concerted' between the general army staffs of Britain and France."

Lloyd George expresses the attitude of England generally, particularly in his warning against using the power of England to build up Russian Communism by adding strength to the alliance between Russia and France.

Every American, from high school age up, should read that statement by Lloyd George. He describes "Nazism and Communism (Germany and Russia) as deadly foes, wrestling for the soul of Central and Eastern Europe."

Old as he is, Lloyd George is, by a distance of a million "light years," the most intelligent statesman in England, the most forceful, the one to whom the British Empire owes most.

Had there been no Lloyd George, there would now, probably, be no Edward the Eighth, secure on his throne.

The "fastest" double star is found, and that is the big news. "Twin stars" close together, in the constellation of Ophiuchus, revolve completely around each other in twenty months. The shortest period of revolution for any other "binary" star is five years. Some revolve only once in 100 years.

Nature is both fast and slow; the electron in the atom revolves around the proton thousands of millions of times in a second. The lens-shaped Milky Way above your head, in which our sun is one of thirty thousand million specks of light, revolves once in 225,000 years. No limit to bigness, no limit to smallness apparently.

Even more amazing, a brilliant young Netherlands astronomer, Dr. Kuiper, who discovered the fast double star, recently found in the constellation of Draco a start, its substance so incredibly "heavy" that one cubic inch of it, about as big as your thumb, would weigh 1,000 tons, or two million pounds. This comes about when the sun, in throwing off into space the electrons of its component atoms, becomes a mass of closely packed protons, the nearest thing in the universe to "solid matter."

A building brick seems "heavy" in your hand. If it were made of material from that heavy star the brick would weigh one hundred and (Continued On Page Six)

Fred L. Rentz, Manager,
New Castle News.

Dear Sir:
I noticed in the editorial columns of your issue of Saturday, March 28, an article entitled "Why Exclude Public Employees From Taxes."

This editorial went on to state that it was not right for a $25.00 a week clerk to pay income taxes while those who work for the government and make four times as much pay no income taxes.

For the benefit of the writer of this editorial and the general public we wish to state that we admit that there are thousands of federal employees who do not pay any income taxes, but not because they receive any special privileges, but because of the pitiful low salaries that they work for.

A fact that is not generally known is that the average salary of federal employees is between $500 and $600 a year, so you can see that we have thousands that are not in the $400 a month class mentioned by the writer of this editorial.

Every employee of the federal government from the president of the United States down to the lowest salaried employee must and do pay these income taxes where their salaries warrant it, this includes by the way, the men who labored almost continuously during the last couple of weeks of the tax period in order to give the public the opportunity to pay before the penalty became operative.

Sincerely yours,
P. S. RICHARDS,

Pedhaps it may interest you to know that a 24 page newspaper consists of from 80,000 to 100,000 words exclusive of advertising, or as many as are contained in the average novel. In most cities of the United States such a newspaper sells for three to five cents. That much white paper would cost as much.

BEING EXACT

The plaintiff's son, a boy of eight, appeared as a witness in court. He wore tremendous shoes, a hat that almost hid his face, long trousers rolled up so that the baggy knees were at his ankles, and a swallowtail coat that had to be held up to keep it from sweeping the floor.

The judge, between his spasms, managed to ask the reason for such an outfit.
The boy was puzzled. From his inner pocket he fished out the summons and solemnly pointed out the clause: "To appear in his father's suit."

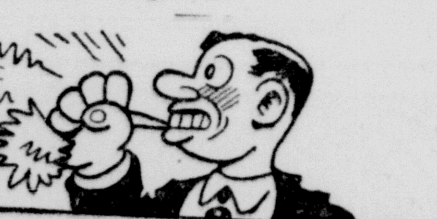

Only by making concessions to those with whom we do business and associate, can we be happy, and give happiness to others. The selfish person may tyrannize and indulge his impulses at the expense of others, but in the end the selfish person is without friends.

A READER writes to me that she is constantly annoyed by her next door neighbor's radio. It blares continuously from early morning until late at night, she complains, and asks me to voice my opinion of these all-too-common pests who have no consideration for the feelings of others.

Radios can be the greatest blessing, or the greatest nuisance imaginable!

It is, indeed, a pleasant thought to know that, by twisting a tiny button and turning a small dial, we can hear voices and music from far of lands—hear just the kind of programs we desire, when we desire them. So much for science!

But the radio "bugs" who abuse these radio programs in smaller, less frequent and less flamboyant doses.

Of course, your neighbor will resent the suggestion; but if you prefer peace of mind . . . her friendship, you are at liberty to call her on the telephone and suggest that because some one in your house is ill you would appreciate a softer pedal—or whatever it's called in radio lingo.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader inclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Sanctions Have Fizzled.
Interfere With Profits.
Too Much Oil Involved.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

ECONOMIC SANCTIONS have fizzled. There are two reasons:

1. To apply sanctions would cause cutting off business profitable to large corporations, such as oil companies. (Oil companies are powerful politically.)

2. To apply sanctions fully would mean as much harm in the end to the country placing the embargo as to the nation upon which it is placed. (Disrupting the world's credit stops trade—and the modern nation cannot exist without trade. Countries which can be affected by sanctions have far less trade to lose than countries which slap on embargoes.)

Mussolini could have been stopped completely if an oil embargo had been placed by Great Britain and the United States. The Soviet Union would have agreed. Rumania would have agreed.

British oil interests would not agree. They are all-powerful in the Tory party.

American oil interests probably were sympathetic with British oil interests.

Mussolini knew he held the upper hand. He still holds it.

CREDITS

Germany is not in such an advantageous position. Germany needs British credit. The British, in turn, are in fear that Germany will disavow the private debts it owes to British bankers.

Germany, however, must have credit. It will do nothing to antagonize British financial interests.

Germany must have credit to buy raw products. That means business for Britain, largest owner of raw product lands.

Even France requires Germany as a customer, in order to remain on her own feet. French raw products lands have been costly; some return must be obtained, soon.

GERMAN BLOC

In the meantime, Germany is said to be endeavoring to form a central European economic bloc of 200,000,000 persons. This would make Germany the most powerful country in continental Europe.

That, perhaps, and not the remilitarization of the Rhineland, is worrying France.

The chief economic battle is likely to be over Rumania. That means oil. The modern nation must have oil. The tremendous potential power of the Soviet Union, and the United States lie in their immense oil supplies.

BOYCOTT

In the meantime, British and American universities are joining in a boycott of the celebration of the five hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the University of Heidelberg. The Nazis expelled 44 members of the staff of Heidelberg for radical, religious and political reasons.

Thanks to the late George V, Handel's autograph copy of the Dead March in "Saul"—which was played at his funeral—is now at the British Museum.

Not long after he came to the throne King George did a great service to lovers by depositing on permanent loan in the British Museum the famous collection of 81 volumes of Handel's manuscript scores.

There are 49 more in the hands of his various amanuenses.

These had always been kept at Buckingham Palace, having been presented to George III by Handel's principal amanuensis, John Christopher Smith. They form the basis of all scientific study of Handel's music.

March 31, 1746—Francisco Goya was born in Puentevedos, Aragon, of peasant parents whose wretched lives he appeared destined to follow until, at 12, he painted a pig upon a barn so realistically that he was given an art scholarship. He painted masterpieces until after he was 80.

March 31, 1809—Edward Fitzgerald was born in England as Edward Purcell. (Fitzgerald was his mother's name, which he assumed.) He was 50 and a failure when first copies of his translation of Omar Khayyam's Rubaiyat went on sale in London. Unable to interest a publisher in it, he had it printed at his own expense. Only a few hundred copies were run off and very few were sold. Those first editions are today worth many thousands of dollars.

100 Years Ago Today—A book which was discovered by a vast public immediately, was published in London. This was Pickwick Papers, which made Charles Dickens famous over night.

The text wasn't intended by the publisher to be as important as the pictures! The publisher had arranged for a series of pictures of sporting life with a central character, and in the search for someone to write text to accompany them, the comparatively unknown 23-year-old Charles Dickens was asked to do it. The serial publication of it didn't sell well and appeared likely to be a flop until the fourth installment, when Sam Weller was introduced!

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LATE TALKING BABIES

Unduly long delay in speech development may indicate deafness or mental retardation. Yet many a mother loses needless nights of sleep worrying over the baby who won't talk. Perhaps the youngster has been urged too much to talk. Perhaps he has a good sign language well obeyed by others of the family.

From the University of Oklahoma comes a study by Dr. M. M. Nice, of a girl who had a vocabulary of only five words at the age of two years, and only 40 at the age of three. But at the age of 40 months she began to talk like other children, and henceforth developed speech very rapidly, having at the age of four years a vocabulary of 1,135 words. When this child did talk her speech was not so much for conversation as for self-expression.

Dr. Nice believes that children learn through imitation to talk much earlier than they need to. Do you know that twins, as a rule, speak later than do other children? Apparently they can communicate with each other with little or no conventional speech.

Wean At Nine Months

Most pediatricians advise that the breast-fed baby be weaned at the age of eight or nine months. Now suppose the baby was nursed 12 months or more? Suppose, on the other hand, he were nursed but a month or less.

Dr. M. Freeman of Smith college made a study of mothers at an institute of child guidance. It was found that half the mothers whose infants nursed but a month or less had rejected their children, while two-thirds of the mothers who nursed their children for 12 months or longer were described as over-protective. This business of weaning is more than a mere physical problem.

From Smith college also comes a study of nail-biting, by L. E. Veitz. Nail-biters were compared with non-nail-biters. It was found that girls bite nails most frequently between the ages of 8 and 15; boys between 9 and 12. (I wonder if nail-biting is not on the increase, thanks to increasing strains of our civilization.)

No relation to intelligence nor physical condition was found. Nor was evidence found to support the popular association of nail-biting with masturbation or introverted tendencies. But there was evidence of much greater tension in the families of the nail-biters—as you and I would expect.

Chas. Schwab's Mother Is Dead

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Mar. 31.—Mrs. Pauline Farabaugh Schwab, who saw her son, Charles M. Schwab rise from an humble beginning to the presidency of the United Steel Corporation and later chairmanship of Bethlehem Steel, died here Monday of pneumonia. She was 93.

Mrs. Schwab had been bedfast for the past two weeks and had been unconscious the last four days. At her bedside were a son, Edward Schwab, of New York, and a daughter, Mrs. David Barry of Johnstown. Charles M. Schwab was notified by telephone and left New York at once for Loretto, site of the Schwab home and estate. Funeral arrangements were not immediately completed.

Mrs. Schwab was born in Cambria county, January 10, 1843, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Farabaugh. Her husband, John Schwab, who died May 5, 1924, was engaged in banking in Loretto for many years prior to his death.

In addition to Charles, Edward and Mrs. Barry, she leaves another daughter, Sister Cecilia, a member of the cloistered order of St. Therese at Loretto.

Browning's poem, "The Ring and the Book", was termed by William Sharp as "the most magnificent failure in literature."

On Court House Hill

Prothonotary John A. Edgar has received word that the supreme court will sit in Pittsburgh during the week, beginning April 6. The court was removed to Philadelphia last week during the flood.

Sixty-six instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number twenty-eight were deeds and thirteen were mortgages.

There will be quite a number of vacancies to fill by appointments on the Republican and Democratic county committees, through failure of any candidates to file nomination papers at the county commissioners' office. There will be more vacancies on the Republican than on the Democratic side, as the Democrats appear to have given the matter more attention than the Republicans. In some districts there are neither Republicans nor Democrats registered.

Welfare Director, Edwin Reed, has just succeeded in getting three persons, a woman and two children, taken off Lawrence county and taken on Warren, O. Mr. Reed, during his investigation, found that they had only been here a few months, and that they were not entitled to support from the county. A constant check up is made by the department of persons who may not be eligible for relief here. In order to become a charge on the county, a family must have been here for at least one year.

Believe it or not, Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard had the right hand back tire of his automobile punctured by a bolt which measured eleven inches long and one-half inch in diameter. Sheriff Pritchard was on his way to Torrence hospital with a patient from New Castle and was passing through Shelocta, Pa., when the wind suddenly went out of his tire. When he got out to investigate he saw something he thought was a railroad spike, protruding from the tire. On pulling it out he found it to be an eleven inch bolt. How such a bolt could get into a tire was something of a mystery. Sheriff Pritchard figured out that the head of the bolt must have been in the direction he was going, and that when the tire struck it the bolt flew up and in some way punctured the tire.

Visitors to the county commissioners' private office yesterday were considerably surprised to find the commissioners with a box, shaking dice. At least the visitors thought that they were dice until an explanation was made. What the commissioners were really doing was drawing lots for candidates for county committee places on the spring ballot. The supposed dice were round, with the exception of one side, which was flat. On this flat side a figure was printed. The commissioners shook up the balls in a little box, like a dice box, and the numbers were allotted to the candidates in the order in which they were drawn, and indicated their places on the ballot. Although it might be classed as a game of chance, it is the fairest way to assign places on the ballot.

Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds, after keeping the registration bureau open nights all last week, now has the most complete list of voters ever registered in this city, running considerably over 19,000. The exact figure will be known as soon as he checks up. Those who are now registered are the only persons who will be eligible to vote at the spring primary.

Residents of third class cities, such as New Castle will have until April 18th to change their party affiliations, but residents of boroughs and townships had their last opportunity to do so on last Saturday.

Very flattering is the new creamy beige frieze woolen coat trimmed with brown fur, which has fur cuffs as well as a fur collar, cuffs ranging from flared gauntlet type to the very deep cuff that starts from above the elbow.

If you wish to remove the skins from coats with greater ease—put the coats in hot water for a short while. Then pour off the hot water and give them cold water immediately. The skins will come off quickly.

Each puff less acid A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

The simple mechanical details of cigarette manufacture are of surprising importance. Upon them depend the physical properties of the cigarette, such as weight, size, firmness, moisture-holding properties, uniformity of fill, uniformity of product—all of which have a far-reaching effect on the character of its combustion and the constituents of its smoke.

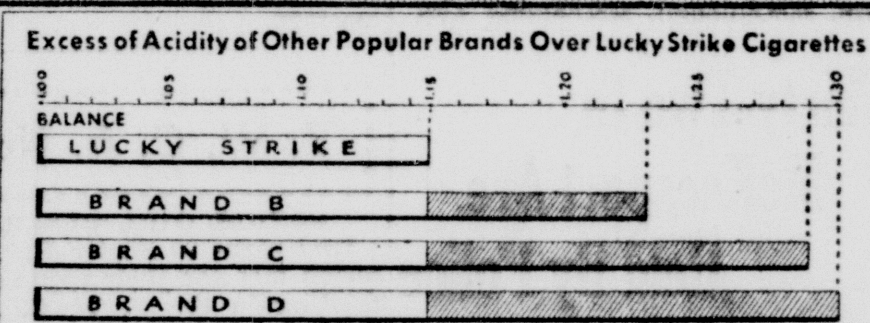

In the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes all of these properties have been standardized with care for the perfection of A LIGHT SMOKE.

LONDON COUPLE HONORED AT BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gee, entertained in their home on Rose Ave. Monday evening, a number of friends at an informal gathering, to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spence, of London, Ont., brother and sister-in-law, who are their house guests.

During the evening, four tables of "bridge-abroad" were in play with Mrs. David Jones, and G. H. Colnot receiving the top score awards. The individual tables were re-arranged and nicely appointed for the serving of a delicious lunch at a late hour, the hostess being assisted by her daughter, Evelyn, Mrs. William McGuire and Mrs. John Kencham.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence have been vacationing in Florida, and are making an extended stay in this vicinity, enroute to their London home. They were showered with wishes for a safe journey, by the assemblage, as they departed.

J. P. Club

Members of the J. P. club motored to the home of Mrs. Sophia Rogalski on the Wilmington road on a recent evening, for an informal social time.

The hours were pleasantly spent playing games and 500, the high score awards being captured by Mrs. Mary Konopka, Mrs. Nell Kendra, Mrs. Mary Kuzar and Miss Joan Dec.

A dainty menu of refreshments was served at small tables by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mary Daniels.

Miss Joan Dec was a guest for the evening and Mrs. Mary Daniels is a new member. The next meeting will take place April 16, at the home of Mary Kolodjiski, Electric street.

Stitch-A-Bit Club
Miss Susan Wallace, Adams street, was hostess Monday evening to members of the Stitch-A-Bit club, the occasion marking their bi-weekly social event. Two tables of bridge were in play, with honor score trophies being awarded to Mrs. Ernest King and Margaret Bowers.

A most delicious collation was served at the dining room table, appointed in gay Easter suggestions that made an attractive setting. Following, they planned to meet Tuesday, April 14, with Elma Badger on Adams street.

Le Dejeuner Club
Associates of the Le Dejeuner club will be entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Melvin, West Sumner avenue, Wednesday evening at a 7 o'clock dinner party, with husbands as guests.

EVENING EVENT FOR NAMELESS BRIDGE

Mrs. Elmer Reiber entertained members of the Nameless Bridge club, in a delightful manner, last evening. Her home on East Moody avenue was attractively decorated with spring flowers.

Tables of contract were in play, and Master Bobby Reiber, presented the guests with quaint silhouette tables, in a novel manner. Mrs. Robert Houk won the high score award. Miss Sylvia Lee Martin was a special guest.

Later the hostess served a delicious lunch at a beautifully appointed table. A mass of spring flowers artistically arranged in a shallow crystal bowl, flanked by tall blue tapers in crystal holders, enhanced the setting for the social period that followed.

The club will meet in two weeks with Miss Marian Rose Randall.

"BIRDS" THEME FOR GARDEN CLUB MEET

April meeting of the Lawrence County Garden club will take place Thursday in the home of Mrs. W. C. Eckenrode, Englewood avenue.

Following the customary buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock, a timely program will be presented. Answering roll call, will follow. Mrs. E. W. Greiner will direct a program with birds as the theme. A guest speaker will give a talk and imitate bird calls.

L. Y. K. Class
Miss Myrtle Cowan, of 208 Holton street, entertained the L. Y. K. class of St. Paul's Lutheran church Monday evening. Knitting and chat were enjoyed during the early part of the evening, and later Miss Cowan, assisted by her sister, Marian, and Miss Lorraine Smith, served a tasty luncheon.

Special guests were the Misses Johanna Bodendorf, Helen Waddington, Lorraine Smith and Dorothy McCol.

On April 13 the class will meet with Miss Virginia Schmidt, North Beaver street.

Attend Beaver Falls Meet
Last evening a group of local Eastern Star members, motored to Beaver Falls where they attended the meeting of Col. Joseph H. Miss Dorothy Boyles and Mrs. Charles Ussell, entertained as joint hostesses Monday evening, members of the Executive Board of the Junior B. P. W. club, at a prominent tavern.

A general discussion of activities concerning the club, including past and future dates, occupied the business period. A special report was given by Miss Lois Beggins, at this time. An informal social time ensued, with refreshments being served.

EMANON EIGHT AT CASTLEWOOD HOME

Delightfully informal was the gathering of Emanon Eight Bridge club members Monday evening in the home of Edna Myers, Castlewood. Tables of cards held attention.

Glady Houk and Elma Houk winning the top score trophies. Afterwards the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Frank Myers, served an appetizing collation at the individual tables.

The next meeting falls due on April 20, with Pauline Myers filling the role of hostess.

Birthday Party

Twenty-five little friends of Santina Bordonaro assembled in her home, Lyndal street, recently, to help celebrate her fifth birthday anniversary.

In the honored guest's play room, the group enjoyed various toys. Gay colored balloons and novelties added much color to the event. During the course of the event, a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Peter Bordonaro, assisted by Miss Minnie Plink. A large cake topped with five candles, formed the centerpiece and a color scheme of red and white was carried out.

The honored guest was the recipient of an array of lovely gifts.

Thirty-Two In McKeesport Are Held By Police

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 31.—The wheels of justice "most forgot to stop for Magistrate Frederick H. Bridley on the eve of the last day of his term in the McKeesport police court.

Today, everything was going "round and round, and for good reason.

As a send off, Police Chief John J. Whalen arranged 31 men and one woman in a drive against drunk and disorderly persons. Bradley asked if this was a present for a remembrance. Whalen assured that it was not. The city was enriched by $137.50 in fines.

That Naval conference in London ends, quite to the satisfaction of England, with the situation about as it was when Hiram Johnson of California put the situation in these few words:

"Great Britain builds as she prefers; the United States builds as Great Britain permits."

England actually says to the United States, "You must build no more cruisers with 8-inch guns, we do not like them." And the United States humbly says:

"All right, then we shall not build any."

It is the old story, England has statesmen, we have politicians—and some of them are Anglo-maniac snobs.

Troop F Performed Excellent Work In Sharpsburg Flood Area

With an excellent record of duty performed in the flood area, and with prospects of almost certain construction of a new armory this year, the morale of New Castle's Cavalry Troop is at a high level.

Creditable performance at federal and state inspections for the past few years has resulted in a marked improvement in the troop, which was evidenced by the performance of the troop under emergency conditions in Sharpsburg. For the great majority of the men, it was their first experience on emergency duty; some of them have but recently enlisted and had not yet had the benefit of extensive training. The troop's achievement, however, in meeting the chaotic conditions of the flood and bringing the semblance of order and relief to the helpless community, left a feeling of gratitude and praise by the Sharpsburg people for the troop.

Idea Of Conditions
To gain a fully realization of the troop's achievement, it is necessary merely to see the position of the community when the troop entered at 11:30 a. m., March 19, 1936. According to Captain Mitchell's official report, the inhabitants and local authorities were helpless, disorganized and confused, streets were crowded, no light, no first aid, no sanitation, no police, no water, power or gas, or sewerage, and no wire communication of any kind; the streets were still under water and where the waters had receded, there was a deposit of mud ranging from six inches to four feet deep. Most of the foodstuffs in the community were entirely spoiled. Under these circumstances the borough council met and turned over complete authority to Captain Mitchell of Troop F.

Billets were established for the troop in one of the schools and the troop went to work. The town was closed to incoming traffic, streets were closed to civilians, a general inspection was made to determine the extent of the problem, and quarters were put in order later to be used by the Red Cross when these headquarters were to be established. Firm but courteous discipline was exercised from the beginning with the result that civilians gained a thorough respect for the troop, which situation no doubt contributed to the almost complete lack of lawlessness and looting during the troop's authority over the community.

All in all the troop's accomplishment during the flood crisis was something of which New Castle can be justly proud. It gained the confidence and respect of the authorities and inhabitants of Sharpsburg and, thru its activity there, the people of New Castle have been given the opportunity to determine the true value and character of the officers and men of the troop.

Hope For New Armory
With the completion of the flood duty, the troop is now turning its attention to the preparation for the annual summer encampment and also looking forward expectantly to the fruition of years of hope for a new armory. For years the troop has been maintained in leased quarters, the armory and stables being widely separated, and winter training has been severely limited by the lack of indoor riding facilities. From present prospects the troop's horses have seen their last winter's rest, for, with the completion of the new winter armory, a large riding hall will permit mounted drill throughout the year, with the possible use of the horses during the day and evenings throughout the week.

Adequate facilities for troop administration and recreation are provided in the new building and with the restrictions on adequate drill removed, the troop will, no doubt, become one of the best trained units of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

While vacancies in the troop's roll have, in the past, been frequent, the record of the troop and the prospects of better training facilities have greatly enhanced the benefits of affiliation with the troop and a great degree of selection in new enlistments has become evident. A recent order that all enlistments expiring during the period from April 1st to August 31st will terminate immediately unless re-enlistments are secured. The object of this order is to make possible the building up of complete peacetime strength of the troop several months prior to the summer encampment so that the entire personnel can be better prepared for training.

New Castle has an opportunity, thru the National Guard unit, to gain fame throughout the state. With relatively few advantages and far removed from regimental headquarters, the troop has maintained a spirit which has gained the community able and creditable recognition in National Guard circles.

The advantage of a new armory and the accomplishment of concrete, worth-while service are, in the opinion of the troop officers and the sponsor committee, favorable omens to further improvement. There is little question that within a short time the New Castle people will hear more about its crack cavalry organization.

Typhoid Fever Fatal To Woman In Mansfield, O.

Epidemic In Mansfield Claims First Life On Monday; Six New Cases Reported

(International News Service)
MANSFIELD, O., Mar. 31.—The epidemic of typhoid fever prevalent here for two weeks Monday claimed its first life. Mrs. Elizabeth Pardon, 33, one of the first persons stricken with the disease before it reached the epidemic stage, died.

Meanwhile, six new cases were reported, increasing the total to 118. State health department engineers were expected to present recommendations soon for improving the city water system as the result of a survey made last week.

First Methodist Lenten Services

Special Services Each Night At First M. E. Church Leading To Holy Week

A Lenten Evangelistic Mission is being conducted each night this week with the exception of Saturday at the First M. E. church. Last night and Sunday night the sermons were delivered by a former pastor, Rev. J. H. Clemens, D. D., of Meadville. The schedule for the rest of the week follows:

Tonight—The church quartet and small orchestra. Sermon by the Rev. L. S. Cass, D. D., of Grove City.

Wednesday—Special Young People's Night. Teen Age and Young People's Departments of the Church School to attend in a body. The pastor, Dr. White, will speak.

Thursday—Special music. Moody Men's Bible class will attend the service in a body. Dr. White will speak on "Zaccheus, the Publican."

Friday—Special music and a challenging message by the pastor. "Family night" for all the members of the home.

My New York By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)
NEW YORK, Mar. 31.—Estelle and Leroy are a couple of youngsters who kick up their heels in that rowdy extravaganza at the French Casino. I wanted to weave their story into a modest fiction, but here I am with my daily white expanse of copy paper leering out of the typewriter, good yarns are scarce and it is a pleasant tale to relate.

Leroy has been billed as Marguerite and Leroy, as Elizabeth and Leroy and as a number of other combinations. He had exceedingly bad luck with his partners. They were without exception pert and alluring young women, and one by one they fell in love and left the act.

Last winter Leroy found himself in Berlin at the Scala Theater, a good contract in his hands; it was Marguerite and Leroy then. But a wealthy broker had been hitch-hiking in the wake of the act across the continent and Leroy was uneasy. Was this good booking to be punctured by a dart from another cupid in greasepaint?

His worst fears were realized. Marguerite yielded to the broker's entreaties, married him and suddenly the stage, discolorated, his contract another scrap of paper, Leroy wandered down to Cannes and there saw a luminous young American girl terping in a local floor show.

Two hours later he had her rehearsing with him. Twenty-four hours later he had a new partner and a new booking with the Monte Carlo Polles. But, sitting on the glamorous terrace that night with his new partner, Estelle, and a pair of theatrical friends, he mused:

"The same old thing is going to happen all over again. Estelle will be a marvelous dance partner for a few months and then she'll follow the cycle, she'll fall in love and leave the act. What shall I do?"

A friend of mature years leaned forward:

"Why don't both of you put up a bond which either of you will forfeit if you fall in love?"

"Suppose," interjected the other friend, "they fall in love with each other?"

Estelle blushed prettily.

"You know," the second friend continued, "that breaks up an act almost as quickly as falling in love with somebody on the outside. Not many dance teams keep dancing after they are sweethearts or man and wife. It's poison for a career."

"The first friend had an idea. "Tell you what. If you fall in love with each other you both forfeit your bond—of, say, 100,000 francs—to us!"

The pair agreed. So far the contract has worked. Estelle has seen some attractive men, but 100,000 francs is a lot of money. It repels all but the savviest. And Leroy has made eyes at a couple of cute little girls but each time while heart and fancy remained free he has remembered the 100,000 francs he put up.

The end of this story is scarcely a rumor. It is a ghostly whisper along Broadway. Leroy and Estelle are very fond of one another. They can't fall in love with each other, of course, because that, honor bright, would cost them 200,000 francs—a terrible financial disaster with which to set up housekeeping. But they are working extra hard and saving their money.

Alderman Biondi Performs Marriage

A class room romance culminated in marriage for Miss Charlotte Mills and Loyal Tanner, former Shenango Township high school pupils, who were wed Friday, Mar. 27, in the office of Eighth Ward Alderman B. J. Biondi, East Long avenue.

Tanner was noted as one of the outstanding athletes turned out in the East New Castle institution during the past few years.

Matron Finds Good Health In World's Tonic

"When I was a young girl I had a beautiful complexion and people said my eyes fairly sparkled," said a well known matron of New Castle, Pa., to the World's Tonic druggist. "Late in my twenties I began to lose my beauty, and you can now see that my complexion is almost gone. It was my own fault. Like many a young woman, I did not value my good looks until I had almost lost them. I was willing to give anything to get them back. I almost lost them through getting into bad personal habits. I did not know then that to neglect to answer Nature's call is one sure way to bring on constipation, and this enemy to good looks came on so insidiously that when I awoke to my danger it was almost too late to regain my complexion, and I think I was lucky to save myself from being an invalid."

"I noticed that my skin was getting sallow and its rosiness was disappearing, but it was not until other symptoms appeared that I was awakened to the seriousness of the matter. My face broke out in an ugly rash, my hair became bad, and my appetite failed so that I got as thin as a rail. My skin kept getting darker and darker, and I had frequent headaches. These I had never had before, and I thought they were due to my stomach, so I doctored it for almost a year with little result."

"A friend told me World's Tonic was fine for stomach trouble, so I purchased a bottle. The first effect I noticed was that the constipation was overcome. When that was accomplished the rest of the bad symptoms disappeared promptly, and my skin began to take on a more natural color, and my hair grew well and keeping well by the use of World's Tonic. I have regained the good complexion I lost as a result of my neglect of constipation. I am so thankful that I am rid of the bad effects that I cannot say too much in praise of World's Tonic. I only wish I had used it much earlier." World's Tonic can be purchased from E. K. Eked's Pharmacy, or at any other first class drug store. (A-38)

NEW CAR THIS SPRING?

Monthly PAYMENTS TO SUIT YOUR PURSE!

WHEN YOU BUY A GENERAL MOTORS CAR

The General Motors Instalment Plan enables dealers in General Motors cars to arrange the monthly payments best suited to your circumstances and the car you buy—whether the payments are $15, $20, $25, or any other amount per month.

Seldom are two instalment buyers in the same financial circumstances. They differ in the amounts they can pay down—and they differ also in their ability to pay comfortably certain amounts per month.

If you agree to pay more per month than you can afford, your car may become a burden and not a pleasure. If you pay less per month than you can comfortably afford, you pay too much for a financing service you do not need.

Therefore, the most satisfactory and economical plan on which to buy a car on instalments is the plan which exactly suits your individual requirements. This is the General Motors Instalment Plan.

It is easy to figure yourself what the costs of various payment terms are—at 1/2 of 1% of the original balance per month—for example, 6% for 12 months. And it will pay you to compare costs on this plan with other plans. When you do, be sure to include equally complete insurance protection.

Under the General Motors Instalment Plan you receive a policy in General Exchange Insurance Corporation, protecting your new car against Fire, Theft, and Accidental Damage—including Collision.

Dealers in General Motors cars will be glad to show you how easily this plan can be made to fit your needs—and your purse.

AROUND CITY HALL

Beginning April 1 there will be a penalty of seven percent on delinquent school taxes and a penalty of seven and one half percent on delinquent city taxes for 1935, according to City Treasurer C. C. McKibben. The treasurer stated that collections for 1935, are ahead of collection for the year 1934, for the same period. He expects city and school taxes for 1936 to be paid to the approximate amount of $250,000 in April.

"Have you noticed a decrease in automobile accidents here?" Chief of police John F. Haven was asked yesterday. The chief replied in the affirmative but reported that there is considerable speeding in Highland and Wilmington avenues. Efforts to curb speeding is to be made, he added.

Radio Technician Wayne Sines has been working on the two radio communication between police headquarters and one of the police cars and within a short time the police will be able to talk back and forth.

It became known today that Chief of police John F. Haven still has several police working in plain clothes in various parts of the city in an effort to capture holdup men. The chief believes that there are five or six more young men who have been concerned in holdups and that sooner or later they will fall into the police dragnet.

Late this week City Treasurer C. C. McKibben will help the postoffice department when he places 25,000 tax cards in the mails. They will go to the city taxpayers. The cards will contain the amount of tax, both city and school, that citizens will owe for 1936.

Receding Waters Uncover Skeleton

Shallow Grave Is Washed Out, Revealing Mysterious Disappearance Of Woman

(International News Service)
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Mar. 31.—Receding flood waters, which washed out a shallow grave in a meadowland here, revealing the skeleton of a woman and a discharged shotgun shell, today revived the 11-year-old mystery into the disappearance of Alice Corbett, 18-year-old Smith college student, of Ulica, N. Y.

The skeleton was found by two young men, Frank Denno and Stanley Maheffki, as they walked thru the meadowland bordering the Connecticut river.

Medical Examiner Thomas Corriden, who examined the skeleton with police, declared the bones were unquestionably those of a young woman and they had been in the ground for several years. The discharged shell found beside the bones bore the marking "Western Super-X".

Disappearance of Miss Corbett from her dormitory room on November 13, 1925, aroused nation-wide interest.

It was heightened two years later when Miss Frances St. John Smith, of New York City, vanished as mysteriously from the same dormitory room. The body of Miss Smith was found two years after her disappearance, floating in the Connecticut river in Longmeadow.

Police were inclined toward a theory that the skeleton discovered in the meadow, not far distance from Smith college, may be that of Miss Corbett because there have been no other unsolved disappearances in this section for many years.

Pittsburgh Will Battle For Flood Control Program

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 31.—As Pittsburgh, laid low by the raging waters of the St. Patrick's Day flood, opened up its gates one more to normal business, a movement was formally under way today advocating proper flood control measures to prevent the recurrence of such a disaster.

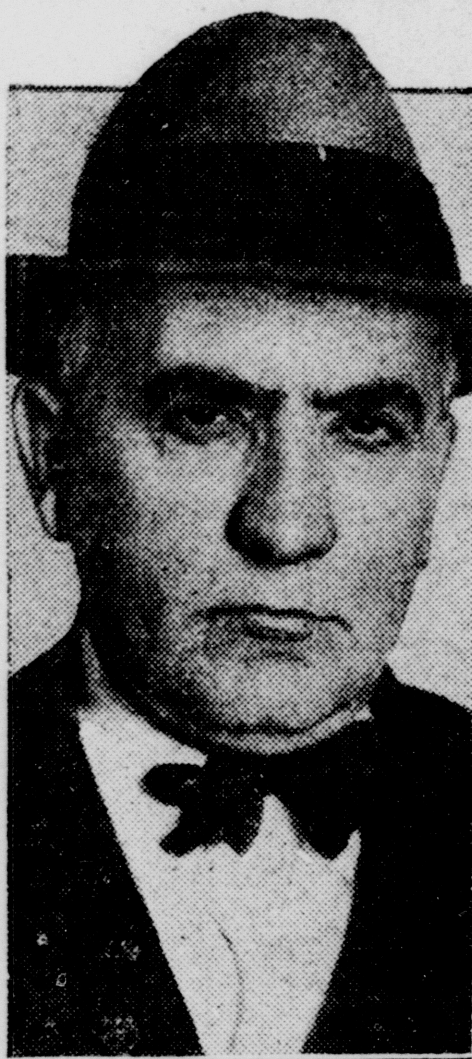

The citizen's committee on flood control instituted an extensive drive to stir up public sentiment to demand dams and reservoirs in the tri-state area. William P. Witherow, chairman, announced a budget of $50,000 was set to carry on the program.

Frank P. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia company, which was hard hit by the flood, pledged $5,000 to the fund and Cornelius D. Scully, president of city council, introduced a bill seeking the same amount for the same purpose.

The committee endorsed the omnibus flood control bill now before congress and prepared to seek appropriations to start the work at once. The committee also sought to become a division of the tri-state authority, a non-political organization dedicated to a program of flood control for the past three years.

As an opening move, the committee will seek trained speakers to tour the river bordering communities in the district to discuss flood protection. Plans to conduct secretary of War George H. Dern and Major General Edward Markham, chief of army engineers, on a survey of the flood devastated areas, were held up when the two guests sent word from Washington that they could not come at present.

Laughlin Plans For Retirement

Chairman Of Board Of Directors Of Jones And Laughlin Will Step Down

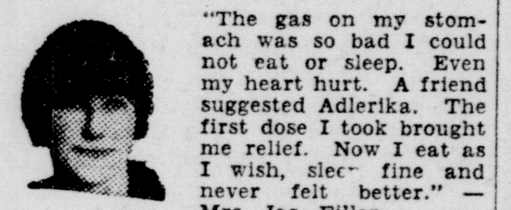

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 31.—Coincidentally with announcement of a change in its new financing plan, G. M. Laughlin, Jr., today announced his intention to retire from the chairmanship of the board of directors of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Laughlin said he had notified the directors of his intention to resign upon completion of the revised financing plan for new mill improvements. He will be succeeded by H. E. Lewis, now chairman of the executive committee of the Jeffrey Manufacturing company, Columbus, O. it was announced.

The board decided that instead of a $40,000,000 first mortgage authorized by the stockholders, the company will issue a $30,000,000 first mortgage and make bank loans of $5,000,000 over a five year period.

Tennis Club Plans Anniversary Dinner

Cherry Street A. A. Has First Meeting Of Season At Local Home

The charter members of the Cherry Street Athletic association met at the home of Edward Calvert, West Cherry street, on Sunday afternoon for their first meeting of 1936. Election of officers took place with the following results:

President—Ted Taylor.
Vice president—Henry Hamilton.
Secretary and treasurer—Howard Tackitt.

Plans were discussed for a dinner in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the club. The place and date will be set at the next meeting. The dinner, if it meets with the approval of the members, will become an annual affair.

The two tennis courts were inspected and were found to be in fine condition in spite of the rigorous winter, and will take but a short time to be put in playing condition. The courts will be opened as soon as the weather permits. All charter members are requested to report at the courts on Saturday morning prepared to work.

The next meeting will be on Sunday, April 5, at 2 o'clock. Plans for the anniversary dinner will be completed.

U. S. TO SHUN POLICY OF WOODROW WILSON

Will Adhere To Original Policy

Recognition Of Foreign Governments Will Be According To Jefferson's Plan

PRESIDENT WILSON ORDERED CHANGE

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—Shunning as impracticable one of Woodrow Wilson's greatest ideals, the state department has decided to adhere to America's traditional policy in respect to recognition of foreign governments.

American recognition of foreign governments under the remainder of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's incumbency is to be based upon the following three conditions:

1. That the new government seeking recognition shall be in control of the administrative machinery of its country;
2. That there shall be apparent acquiescence of the people to the new government; and,
3. That the new government shall be in a position and willing to discharge its international obligations.

Enunciated by Jefferson

This policy was enunciated by Thomas Jefferson in 1792 and remained America's traditional policy for more than a century until 1913, when President Wilson sought to put into effect his policy of basing American recognition of foreign governments on evidence that such governments represented the will of the people.

The Wilsonian policy was discarded by the Republican administration, which returned to the traditional Jeffersonian policy.

In view of the rise of dictatorships throughout the world and the difficulty of determining whether governments actually represented the will of the people, it was felt it would be impracticable to attempt to follow the Wilsonian policy. It therefore was decided to adhere to the traditional policy.

Quick Relief From Pile Irritation

The other three debaters on the trip are the Messrs. John Sawyer, of Darlington; John Griffiths, of Freedom, and Herman Roney, of Beaver Falls. Dr. Don Wolfe, of the English department at Geneva, is accompanying the debaters. They spent the week-end in New York City visiting law schools. During this week they have debates scheduled with Bucknell Junior College at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Dickinson College, at Carlisle, Pa., Susquehanna University, at Selingsgrove, Pa., Elizabethtown College, at Elizabethtown, Pa., Shippensburg Teachers College, at Shippensburg, Pa., and St. Vincents College, at Greensburg, Pa.

The Men's Glee club of Geneva College—a chorus of 39 voices—are also making their annual eastern concert tour at this time with programs scheduled for Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Mass., and a number of intervening points. They are accompanied by Prof. William T. Davies, of the physical education department at the college. With the club are Chester Kyle and Judd Lamson, of Mt. Jac'son, Pa., and Arthur Dubbs, of Enon Valley.

Clemency pleas of six applicants were continued, while 47 were refused and seven held under advisement. Of the total applications, 75 were heard in February, one in December and five in January. Among the cases held under advisement was that of Wilbert G. Hess, 25, serving a 10 to 20 year sentence on second degree murder charges in connection with a York county "hex" slaying.

Commutations granted included: Erie county—Thomas Whalen, Jr., robbery.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Sidelights On Investigations

Split Between Townsend
And Clements Gives
Plan Unfavorable
Publicity

UNCOVER USELESS INFORMATION TOO

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—The Townsend plan, the American Telegraph and Telephone company and the big industries which have been arming in anticipation of labor trouble, have been getting considerable undesirable publicity out of pending congressional investigations.

The Townsend quiz might not be particularly damaging to the pension planners' cause if it were not for the split which occurred, just at the psychological moment, between Dr. Francis E. Townsend himself and the scheme's business manager, R. E. Clements. The Townsend-Clements rumpus has its aspects of the ridiculous, in that it is advertised as resulting from the elderly doctor's jealousy of his junior associate's growing reputation as the "real brains" of the plan. It was an incident, however, which perhaps would have blown over except for the investigation of the pension proposition, right in the midst of it, to keep discussion of it alive.

Briefly, the inquiry and the row co-ordinated in a way to do one another the most good.

MERITS NOT ON TRIAL

The investigation, in its nature, never was calculated to make out much of a case.

The Townsend program may or may not be workable. It is not disputed that the Townsends are entitled to advocate it, anyway. Its merits are not on trial before Representative Bell's committee. All that the committee is at liberty to determine is, "Is it a racket?" Few folk, if any, who have met Dr. Townsend, believe him to be a racketeer—mistaken, possibly, but honest.

Nor would it have done so, except as a means of emphasizing the break between the doctor and Clements.

This break presents the Townsend plan in the light of a joke.

It is no advance to a crusade to be broadcast as a joke.

DIFFICULT SPOT

The A. T. & T. is unlucky in having had its president, Walter S. Gifford, chosen as former President Hoover's first minister of economic recovery.

It was present at a conference of newspapermen with President Gifford, shortly after his selection to fight the depression, in its early days, and heard him argue for the maintenance of jobs and wages, to fight the then incipient slump.

Now he is revealed as the head of a five-billion-dollar corporation.

among the leaders of wage-cutters and employment-slashers of depression years.

At a time when the A. T. & T. was making barrelsful of money, too.

MEET

It was rather funny—that interview with Walter Gifford.

He was smoking a cigar. The newspaper boys pressed him pretty strongly. What was he going to do? His cigar kept going out and he kept relighting it.

Finally he put it in his mouth fire-end first.

There is this to be said for Gifford—

"On the pan," before a gathering of newspapermen or a congressional committee, he is reasonably meek. Some of his underlings are 'sassy'; he has better sense.

"PRIVATE ARMIES"

Industry's "private armies" are disagreeably advertised by investigations into the coal and coke and steel trades.

They have been attacked on constitutional grounds in past times. Their legality is doubtful.

Congressional inquiry proves that they exist, however.

INTERESTING

These congressional inquiries undoubtedly do uncover a great deal of information that is nobody's business.

At the same time, some of it is very interesting.

Large Crowds At Baptist Meetings

Vom Bruch Evangelistic Campaign Is Now In Its Second Week

The evangelistic campaign which is in charge of Dr. Harry Vom Bruch and Jimmie Davis at the First Baptist church has begun its second week most auspiciously. Sunday night in spite of the rain which began in the afternoon and continued through the evening, the auditorium of the church was filled and the gallery was occupied. Saturday night was announced as "surprise night" and the surprise was the appearance of "Bob" Ingersoll, who told the story of his life. He is a descendant of the late orator and agnostic of the same name. He told of the change in his life and his views that came because of the work of Mel Trotter of Rescue Mission fame.

While there are special features every night in these meetings there is always a half hour of music led by Dr. Vom Bruch and Jimmie Davis at the piano. They are assisted by a large choir and they intersperse congregational singing with special numbers, both vocal and instrumental. Every program is informal and spontaneous. After the musical part of the service Dr. Vom Bruch presents one of his characteristic messages.

Prayer meetings are held daily in the homes at 10 o'clock, in the church at 12 o'clock and again in the church at 7 o'clock. A young people's "Question Box" will also be held each night this week at 7 o'clock. The evangelistic services are held every night except Monday.

H. O. L. C. SAVES 58,441 HOMES

By ARTHUR C. WIMER

(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 31.—The Home Owners Loan Corporation has saved 58,441 Pennsylvania homes from foreclosure.

The Corporation has granted loans to that number of mortgaged home owners in the Keystone State. The 58,441 loans total $165,972,438, or an average of $2,834 per loan. In the country as a whole, borrowings have averaged $3020 per average HOLC loan, or considerably more than the average loan in Pennsylvania.

The HOLC has still pending only 263 applications for additional loans in Pennsylvania. All of these will be handled before termination of lending operations June 13, this year.

Wicht To Make Floor Decision

Secretary Of P. I. A. A. Will Announce Site Of Title Game Tonight

HARRISBURG IS PROBABLE CHOICE

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Mar. 31.—Out to win the right to battle for the state basketball title of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association, Lebanon high school and Newport township high school will meet here tonight in the final game of the Eastern regional playoffs.

With tonight's determination of the team that will face New Castle for the state championship also was to come announcement of where Saturday night's final game will be played.

Lebanon Favored

Lebanon, winners of the Central Pennsylvania Scholastic league title, ruled a slight favorite, Newport, District 2 champions who toppled Berwick Saturday night to enter the Eastern finals, was regarded as a strong contender, however.

P. I. A. A. officials looked for more than 4,000 fans to witness the contest here at the Zemo Mosque, most likely scene of the state championship game. Edmund Wicht, P. I. A. A. secretary, said he would announce the place of the final game after tonight's elimination, indicating it probably would be Harrisburg. Castle, Western regional champion, won its place in the state final by defeating Franklin Borough high school Saturday night at Beaver Falls.

Polish Falcons Trip Farrells By Score 42-39

The Polish Falcons had their hands full with the Farrell Ex-High Stars at the Falcon court, and finally won out 42 to 39 after two extra periods. The game was without a doubt one of the finest ever played at the Falcon court.

At the half the Falcons led 22 to 18, but the Farrell boys had tied it up at the end of the regulation game, and the teams battled two over-time sessions.

Scoring honors in the game were held by "Ratsy" Kendra with 15 points, followed by Kawa with 11 points and Frankovich with 11 points. Other high scorers were Augustyn, Stevenson and Palanti.

Pittsburgh Looks Good In Training

Pie Traynor Pleased With Performance Of Club In Spring Training

CRITICS DO NOT SELECT PIRATES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
International News Service Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Tex., Mar. 31.—The Pittsburgh Pirates of 1935 were the least effective club of the national league in the important matter of completing double plays, yet they finished in the first division.

Manager Pie Traynor looks for a decided stepping up in the double play department this year, and as he thinks Catcher Al Todd has added the needed tonic to the fighting spirit of the team, the Pittsburgh pilot feels his revamped club will cut quite a swath in the impending race.

Carrying the point of double-play significance a bit further, it is pointed out that the Chicago Cubs, with Bill Jerges and Billy Herman functioning as perhaps the greatest key-stone combination in the game, were leaders in double-play killings and you know the Cubs are the same gang who won the 1935 national league flag.

Boss Traynor doesn't expect Pep Young and Arky Vaughan to match the fast juggling of Herman and Jerges, but Pie insists that with Young starting from scratch at second, Vaughan will be a smoother in years with the club.

Young did not break in as a regular last season until the race was one month old. The tow-haired infielder is a ball hawk of the first water, sure of his post provided he is able to hit as consistently as he did in his maiden effort in the big show. Pepper, although missing the first months, batted in about 60 runs.

In any event, Traynor, starting his second full season as buccanar manager, thinks he has a nifty ball club. For one thing, Pie feels that he has the antidote for those Henschaw-Zachary forkhanders who throw their glove out on the mound and claim a victory over the Pirates.

Young Henschaw cracked down on the Pirates seven times last season, and almost landed an eighth triumph. This total was larger than his aggregate triumphs over the other six clubs. Where the Pirates could measure gents like Dizzy Dean for smothering defeats they were pushing over for a lot of Southpaws, who couldn't seem to beat anybody else.

The remedy, Traynor feels, is found in a flock of Herculean righthander swingers named Fred Schulte, Al Todd, Bud Hefey, Bernie Cobb and Bill Bakker.

Schulte came from the Washington senators. In the workouts here he gives the indication of a star outfielder on the verge of a good season. Todd has the runnerup spot in the race for the first string catching job, while Young Hefey, a nephew of Chick and a slugger in his own right, has a good chance to win an outfield post.

Cobb, a reminder of Hank Greenberg, is a right-hand hitting first sacker, who may get into action if the opposing pilots continue to save their "lefties" for the Pirates. Brubaker has been a big pirate farmhand for several years. He is a third-sacker and stands to play the hot corner if Manager Traynor's arms fail him.

When Lloyd Waner was stricken with pneumonia a few weeks back, Manager Traynor fretted a bit, but after looking over his new field of players for two weeks at San Antonio, Pie has done a right-about-face so far as his mood is concerned. The Pirates really are impressive, and to make the setup all the more favorable to Traynor, the critics are not picking the Buccos to cop the pennant.

Traynor thinks that pitching is 70 percent of any club. The Pirates' hurling last year was in-and-out largely because a fixed star went in to eclipse for the year. Everybody in Pittsburgh figured Guy Bush, a perennial winner with the Cubs, would hold to his pace, but Bush could not reach his stride and ended the year with 11 wins and a like number of setbacks.

Both Bush and Traynor feel the Mississippi Mudcat will be a consistent winner this year. Cy Blanton was the standout young pitcher of the Majors last season, his first full year in the big show, and this time he should go even better.

Traynor had the two stars in earned-run effectiveness, Blanton and Bill Swift, who finished first and second in the national league race. Swift looks better than ever, and a lad named Mace Brown seems to have as much stuff as Blanton showed the hitters last year.

So while there may be some uncertainty in the Pirates' slab staff, there is room for optimism, too. Traynor has a colorful array of sharpshooters in Bush, Blanton, Swift, Brown, Hoyt, Lauer, Weaver and Birkhofer, the latter being a fireball left-hander with a dandy hook.

The catching department is in the capable hands of Todd, Tommy Padden and Hal Finney. Finney has recovered from serious illness and looks fine again. Padden would be the No. 1 catcher on a lot of clubs that need receivers.

Traynor's arm leaves uncertainty in the infield, but the reserve strength is good. In Harry Lavagetter to the Pirates have a hard-hitting ball hawk who could not be separated from Traynor for a jackpot of gold. The Italian kid may solve the third base problem in the last analysis.

With the two Waners, Jansen, Hefey and Schulte, the Buccos are well stocked in the garden.

Offensively, Arky Vaughan will not bow to anybody. Arky Vaughan was good enough to lead the batters of the Major loops last season and Paul Waner is just as tough at the plate as the Greyhound shortstop. Gus Suhr, facing serious opposition for the first time in his pirate career, may shake a good year out of his system, and if he does, the Pirates should go places.

Umpire Stark Is 'High Hat'

Holdout National League Umpire Has Gone 'Park Avenue'

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 31.—By devious inquiries among those who know the man intimately, I seem to have learned the real facts today behind the strange story of Albert H. (Dolly) Stark, who has remained here for weeks on the fringe of the demi-aristocracy, for reasons not quite clear. I don't think he knows it, but Palm Beach is winter resort, not a career.

Parthenonically, Stark is the National League umpire who suffered so intensely from misgivings that he was moved to put on the first holdout known to the fine, old traditions of umpiring. For this, baseball gave him all it could, which was to be a year's leave of absence, without pay. As for Dartmouth College, where he was basketball coach, it was even more liberal.

Not Stylish

It gave him the pavement, permanently, with the result that a man who started the winter with two jobs, grossing perhaps $14,000, now has one. Oddly, or so I'm informed, this hardly matters.

The holdout, it seems, was less financial, than aesthetic. Umpire Stark, it is declared, has gone Park Avenue while nobody was noticing. He doesn't like the uniform. It lacks prestige and dignity, especially among the pearl stud and pink shoulder set he sees around him of an evening. And so, or at least that's what they say—He came to wadding out there before everybody, made up like a telephone lineman in shin guards and a bosom full of protector. It wasn't compatible with a few decollete and dinner jacket contacts he had made off the field.

Very Good Umpire

There is really nothing humorous about Umpire Stark. He is an earnest, a personable but ingenious man who is a very good umpire. He is also a straightforward, sincere soul who, after many years of a rather confined existence, has been free of a new strata of life for the first time and, mistaking show for substance, is being away by the time.

He wanted baseball to give him a more dignified job and that didn't happen. He wanted to get on the radio and neither did that. He has said, in effect, that the trouble with an umpire was that he didn't get to know enough nice people.

Personally, there are any number of nice people with whom I'll enter a covenant not to know on sight, provided they put it in writing.

Curtis High In Nonpareil Shoot

Curtis was high man in the semi-weekly shoot of the Nonpareil club at the west side range, with 195, a very fine mark, out of a possible 200. Second high was Rod Davis with 193, and third high stood Barber with 190.

The Nonpareil club will stage another shoot at the west side range tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The results—Curtis 195, Rod Davis 193, Barber 190, Rohrer 185, Eckles 185, Shaw 183, Douglas 177, Adams 174, W. Davis 173, Boyd 172, Chambers 169, Grodecour 168, Wilson 165, Piper 164, S. Davis 155, Essinger 152, Stern 148, Dess 136, Jinks 134, Kirk 56.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Promoters of the proposed Max Schmeling-Joe Louis scrap already are talking price and according to current reports from New York City where Mike Jacobs, the pugilistic nonnoisseur holds forth, are to the effect that $40,000 will be the top price for good seats. Max and Joe are scheduled to swap punches in New York City next June and from now on the fistie followers will be regaled with tales of what may and may not come to pass when the German fights the American negro.

Louis will make an appearance in this vicinity when he attends the amateur show to be conducted by Doc McClelland, commissioner of boxing at Pittsburgh, April 6. Jack Dempsey, former king of punch, also will be among those present. Joe and Jack will alternate as referee, according to reports. The receipts will be given to flood victims.

George T. Dunlap, Jr., four times holder of the title, and Sam Friedman, Jr., youthful golfer from Tuscaloosa, Ala., led the field of 32 into the championship flight of the annual north-south amateur tourney at Pinehurst, N. C. Each shot a 73 to deadlock for medal honors.

Bryan Grant, Davis Cup player from Atlanta, went three sets before he vanquished Arthur Trum, of Houston in tennis, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1 at Houston, Tex., yesterday.

No Meeting Of Lawrence Loop

Bessemer, Hillville And Carbon May Drop From League

There was no meeting of the Lawrence County Baseball League managers last night at the Sport Goods Store, but a meeting will be held one week from tonight. Indications are that Bessemer, Hillville and Carbon may take out franchises in a circuit composed of Lowellville, Petersburg and other Ohio towns. Jim Martin has been handling the affairs of the Bessemer club for many years, but owing to lack of co-operation has decided, according to Vice President William G. Andrews, that conditions must change or he may not be back with a team this season.

City Title At Stake Tonight

Polish Falcons And Keystone A. C. Play At Falcon Court In First Of Series

The Keystone A. C. or Sacred Hearts, champions of the Church AA League this year at the "Y," will play the Polish Falcons tonight at the Falcon hall in the first of a three-game series for the city championship. The reserves of both teams will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Andy "Cooks" Venditta, the popular leading man of the Keystone A. C., and a mighty fine coach, will present all of his stars tonight in an effort to upset the lineup with Joe Kelly, Paul Morrison, Frank Vigliani, Louis Genocck, Vinnie Gallagher, Kearns, Zingaro, Merando and Sammie Bullano.

The Falcons will present their great star Russ "Shiek" Kawa, "Ratsy" Kendra, Slim Augustyn, Joe Kolodjeski, Sniezek, Balla, Dlugan, skit, Kwolek and others. Coach Marion Kolodjeski, a veteran at championship series, will have a strong lineup available.

All of the Keystone players are asked to report at the club rooms not later than 7 o'clock to make the trip to South New Castle for the game.

Keystone Juniors Win First Game Of Title Series

The Keystone A. C. Juniors won the first game of a three-game series from the Walnuteers last night at the "Y" floor by the score of 29 to 14. It was 8 to 7 at the half in favor of the Gallagher coached machine.

The last half attack of the Key Juniors was too much for the Walnuteers. Scoring stars in the game were Cooper, Todd, C. Brest and Latina. D. Updegraph played a fine game for the losers.

The second game of the series will be played Wednesday night at the "Y" floor at 7 o'clock.

Charley Grimm Sees Another Cub Pennant

Feels That 1935 Champions Will Be Better Than Last Year

Lot Depends On Whether Or Not Lon Warneke's Arm Is In Shape

By JAMES GALLAGHER
International News Service Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 31.—Haunting Manager Charley Grimm's dreams of another national league pennant, and a world series championship for his Chicago Cubs, is the recurring vision of Lonnie Warneke stalking from the mound in the sixth game of the 1935 series, with his mighty right arm dangling limp at his side.

Has Warneke recovered? He says he has. To observers it would seem that he is throwing with all his old power. But close confidants of the great Chicago pitcher know that Arkansas Lon is worried about his soupbone.

Depends On Warneke

On Warneke's arm, as great if not greater than the more widely publicized arm of Dizzy Dean, depends all the Cubs hopes for another national league title.

The same team that galloped so sensationally through the stretch last September to win the pennant will be called on to carry Chicago's banner once again. It is the youngest outfit in either league—except, perhaps the Philadelphia Athletics—and it figures to improve with a year's experience. But it can win only with Warneke in his real form.

Lindstrom Gone

Of the 1935 outfield, only Fred Lindstrom is gone. The brittle veteran has been replaced by Johnny Gill, who batted 361 for Minneapolis last season. Augie Galan, a sensational in left field, will play center this year, with hustling Frank Demaree in left and Huston Klein in right, unless Gill or Tuck Stainback win the job away from him.

In the infield, Phil Cavarra, now 20, will play first; the Peerless Bill Herman will handle second; Bill Jurgens, finest fielding shortstop in the majors, is back at his old post, and Stan Hack, one of the most improved men in baseball last year is slated for third.

Good Reserves

Gene Lillard, Los Angeles sensation, who clouted 56 homers last summer, is trying for third, but he's expected to be back with the Angels in May. Woody English, a star at three infield positions, is giving Jurgens a battle at short, and Manager Grimm has reinstated himself as a player.

Grimm is down to 181 pounds, the lowest weight he's carried since he became manager in mid season 1932, and he says he's rid of the back misery that forced his retirement last summer. However, it's doubtful if he will do much more than pinch-hit.

Gabby Hartnett, the most valuable man in the league last year, is once again the first-string catcher. But if Gabby should slip, the Cubs have two of the finest young catching prospects in the business in Ken O'Dea and Woody Stephenson.

Five Good Pitchers

If Warneke comes through, Grimm has five regular starters. Bill Lee, Charley Root, Southpaw Larry French and Tex Carleton filling the other berths. Root is the only veteran, and he had a great season in 1935.

Roy Henshaw, Hugh Casey, Fabian Kowalk and Clay Bryant, reserve pitchers last season, are status southpaws Clyde Shoun, Chambliss, Vines and Charley Flowers, and right-handers Ken Weaver, John Hutchings and Gene Ford, for the open places on the mound staff.

Hutchings and Shoun look like good prospects.

Lebanon Plays Newport Tonight

Winner Will Meet New Castle High "Red Hurricanes" For State Title

SITE OF FINAL GAME SOON TO BE SELECTED

New Castle basketball fans are interested in the semi-final state championship game being played tonight at the Zemo Mosque floor in Harrisburg between Lebanon High and Newport High. The winner will meet New Castle Saturday at either Harrisburg or Pittsburgh for the state championship.

Newport gained the right to do battle with Lebanon by upsetting Berwick High 27 to 26 last Saturday night.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner is still making every effort to get the winner of the game tonight to come to Pittsburgh for the final game. Newport being only 35 or 40 miles from Harrisburg is more than likely that from the standpoint of a crowd that the State Board of Control will place the game at Harrisburg. However, there will be some kicking on the part of Gardner who contends that New Castle would send 3,000 or more fans to Pittsburgh for the game and probably not a 1,000 to Harrisburg.

Definite announcement of where the final game will be played will be made following the Newport-Lebanon game.

LAST NIGHTS FIGHTS

At St. Louis—Otis Thomas, Chicago negro heavyweight, decided Eddie Simms, Cleveland (10).

Snail's Pace, But Stocks
Move To High
GroundBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service

NEW YORK, Mar. 31.—With trading continuing at a snail's pace, the stock market moved moderately higher today under the lead of motors and steels.

Fears over the French financial situation appeared to have been allayed, as the franc rallied sharply above the gold export point.

Buoyancy in the steel department reflected the rebound in operations, estimated at 63 per cent for the current week, the best figure since the summer of 1930. Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and Republic chalked up fair-sized fractional gains.

Good reports of auto business brought moderate buying into the motor section, Chrysler and General Motors moving somewhat above previous closings.

International Nickel spurred more than a point before meeting profit-taking, while American Smelting, Anaconda and Kennecott climbed fractionally higher.

In carrier stocks, Atchafon, Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio were improved, but Great Northern, N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania slipped fractionally.

Aviations, utilities and a few specialties were under pressure. Johns-Manville slumped 3 points before meeting support.

Farm equipments were led up by a rise of 2 points in Case. Bonds were quiet, and mixed. Grains and cotton were steady.

Tax Program

Men Protest Billion
Dollar Program

Michael Livingston

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—In an atmosphere of partisan bitterness, spokesmen for business again today struck at the Roosevelt billion dollar tax program in hearings of the house ways and means committee.

Testimony of representatives of industry was punctuated by sharp verbal darts fired by Democratic and Republican members of the committee which will frame a bill upon the president's $1,137,000,000 tax program.

Rush Hearings Chairman Doughton (D of North Carolina, discredited by Republican protests, announced his intention of rushing the hearings through this week if possible.

As hearings were resumed, the Democratic majority apparently wanted to ignore the demand of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy D. Helvering, the administration spokesman, that the full tax recommendations of Mr. Roosevelt be met.

While the president recommended $7,000,000 in taxes, the report of the ways and means tax subcommittee called for $799,000,000 in new taxes.

Here From Brazil
For Home VisitMr. and Mrs. Edmond Long
And Son Visit Mrs. Ida
C. Robinson

Back in the United States for the first time in three years, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Long and son Edmond Jr., who have been visiting Mrs. Long's mother, Mrs. Ida C. Robinson, of 124 North Walnut street, Mr. Long is in Akron, O., at the present time where he is conferring with officials of the company he represents in Brazil, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, O.

Santos is the seaport for the section of Brazil in which the Longs are located, being about thirty five miles from Sao Paulo where they live. Sao Paulo is in the mountains surrounded by coffee plantations. Cotton plantations being started there very recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Long were last in the United States about three years ago. Since then a son has been born to them, Edmond Jr. This is the first time Mr. Long has been in the United States.

Leaving Santos the Longs travelled by boat, taking two weeks for the trip. They arrived in the states last week and on Sunday night Mr. Long left for Akron to visit his mother, Mrs. Ida C. Robinson. They expect to be in the United States until sometime in June, when they will return to Sao Paulo.

Last Day Returns
Are Being FiledRegister And Recorder's Office
Kept Busy On Personal
And Property Papers

This is the last day for making returns of personal property to the state, and Register and Recorder, William R. Hanna, and an assistant were kept busy filling out eleventh hour returns. Since the extension of time for making returns on March 15 scores of taxpayers have made out their returns at the register and recorder's office. Many did not receive any blanks in the mail, and Mr. Hanna has had to send for several hundred blanks.

As those who make out the state returns upon which a one mill tax is to be paid, also make out a county return, which the tax is four mills, the new state law has had the effect of increasing, by a very large amount, the total of the personal property tax in the county.

Officer Wallace
Hurt In AccidentPatrolman's Car Is Struck By Truck At Grant And Highland

Patrolman Carl Wallace was injured at four p. m. Monday when a car he was driving on Grant street, was struck by a truck driven by Samuel Martello, 1030 South Mill street. The policeman's back was hurt in the crash, according to reports received at police headquarters.

According to Martello he was driving a truck south, when an auto truck going north turned left in front of his truck, into Grant street.

Martello reported he applied his brakes which did not hold and he swerved his truck to the left to avoid hitting the other truck and struck the car driven by Wallace.

MACHINE GOES OVER
CURB; DAMAGES STEPS

Warren S. Black, R. D. 2, was arrested early this morning by city police on a charge of reckless driving and fined $10.00, by Mayor Charles E. McGrath, in police court. His car went over a curb and tore down the front steps of a house at 806 West Grant street.

Amateur Boxers
To Clash TonightMike Kravynak To Battle
Youngstown Champion In
Main Bout At Shelby

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—Amateur boxing will make its appearance in Ellwood City again after an absence of one year. Upholding its reputation as arranging shows, which are real crowd pleasers, the Shelby Social Club has outdone itself in its show for tonight. Eight amateur bouts have been arranged by Matchmaker Joe Stalano. The surrounding district is well represented on the card and brings out the effect of an inter-city competition. The card is sprinkled with amateur champions. Bouts will be staged from the 130 pound class to the 160.

The main go will be between Mike Kravynak, popular all-around athlete of Ellwood City, and Shelton Bell, Youngstown, O., Ohio State lightweight champion. The local pugilist has developed gradually and has reached a fine peak. He will be real test for the Ohio champion. Kravynak has made quite a name for himself in this district. The semi-final bout between the speedy and hard hitting Tony Adams of New Castle and John G. Pittsburgh promises to be a real slugfest. A victory for Adams over the Pittsburgh champion will establish him as a real threat to aspirants in the 147 pound class. A natural has been arranged in the match between Paul Kravynak of Ellwood City and John Pettit of Pittsburgh. Both are clever boxers and hard hitters. The local amateur recently won a match with a Pennsylvania team in Canada.

In the 130 pound class everything in the way of science and cleverness will be offered when Rich Gregory of Butler clashes with Donaldson of Youngstown. Gregory who needs no introduction here, will receive a good test tonight.

The popular Ray Eberle of Alliquippa will be the announcer and Joe Zivic of Pittsburgh the referee. Joe Smith and Tommy Newman will be the timekeepers. Joe Daugherty is one of the judges. Teddy Yarosz of Monaca, former middleweight champion of the world, will be introduced from the ring.

Ten per-cent of the gross receipts will go towards flood relief for the directors of the club announced recently.

Miss McLaughlin
Is Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—Miss Emma McLaughlin was a charming hostess to the members of the C. F. N. club Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Stoner on Lawrence avenue. Mrs. William Preisel and Miss Pauline Hindmarch were special guests.

Two tables of bridge occupied the attention of those present for the greater part of the evening. Miss Edna Lucas and Mrs. Hindmarch won the prizes at the close. Lunch was served later in the evening by the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. Preisel and Mrs. Stoner.

In two weeks Miss Helen Lamenza will be hostess to the club.

C. A. Martin Class
Meets On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—C. A. Martin Bible class of the First Presbyterian church held its regular meeting last night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Jones on Fourth street. Mrs. Louise Fisher was associate hostess.

After a short business meeting at which routine matters were transacted a delightful social time was enjoyed. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses. The next meeting of the class will take place on April 27 at the home of Mrs. Helen Wilson on Fountain avenue.

WURTEMBERG CHURCH

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—The annual congregation meeting of the Wurtemberg United Presbyterian church will be held on Wednesday evening at the church.

An election of officers will be held and reports will be heard from all organizations of the church.

W. M. MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—Members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Wurtemberg United Presbyterian church will be entertained on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Gibbons, of Wurtemberg. Mrs. Gibbons will also be the leader.

BELL MEMORIAL

Of Wayne SchoolNew Building To Be Erected
On Clyde Cunningham
Farm

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—Preliminary work was started Monday morning for the erection of a new school building in Wayne township, which is to be located on the Clyde Cunningham farm by means of a PWA loan and grant.

The building will be constructed of brick and will have two floors containing five rooms, two on the first floor and three on the second floor.

Pupils of the present Mt. Quarry Locust Ridge and Quarry schools will attend this school, while pupils of the Wurtemberg and Burnside schools will possibly be transferred to the new consolidated building.

All of these one-room buildings have been in a poor condition for some time and the board of directors have worked hard and long to secure a new modern building and they are to be commended for their successful efforts.

The general contract is being handled by the Anderson Company of Beaver Falls.

The board received a 45 percent grant which amounted to $28,000. The township is to furnish $21,000 which is to be paid back over a period of 29 years. Twenty eight bonds which are for $1000 each are held by the State Teachers' Retirement board at 4 percent interest.

The regular April meeting of the board will be held on Saturday evening at the Matheny schoolhouse on the Wampum road at 7 o'clock. Following the business period the directors, their wives and the teachers of the district will hold a social get-together.

K. of K. Club
Gathers Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 31.—Miss Dorothy Anderson opened her home on Fountain avenue for the pleasure of the members of the K. of K. club. Mrs. Joe Lattano was a special guest.

Grass Fires Keep
Firemen On Jump

Several Alarms For Grass Fires
Are Turned In Here Last Evening

Firemen were kept on the jump last evening, answering alarms for grass fires.

At 7:20, an alarm was sounded from Box 611, which registered 51, when it came over the alarm system. Firemen went to the scene of Box 611, but on finding no fire, returned, and were then sent out to Greenwood cemetery where a second alarm came in from Box 611, where the fire was located. At 8:10, some one again sounded Box 611.

At 8:15 an alarm from Box 677 summoned firemen to the West Side playgrounds, where a grass fire was found.

At 9 o'clock, a still alarm was received from Moravia street, a grass fire being reported at 1009 Moravia street.

At 9:30 a false alarm was sounded by boys from Box 62. Officers Lynch and Suber saw the youths pull the box and gave chase, but they managed to escape.

HAUPTMANN IN

by Kimberling he might order anything he wished for his final dinner this evening, he replied:

"I'd like to have that last meal sent to Dr. Condon."

Kimberling said Hauptmann spent most of last night writing letters to his mother who lives in Kamez, Germany, and talking with his guards, Fred Mayor and Charles D. Douglas.

"Hauptmann was upset throughout the night," Kimberling reported. "He was writing from 10:30 p. m. until 5:15 a. m., breaking into his writing to talk occasionally with his guards."

Claims Innocence "He said the state will never solve the Lindbergh kidnapping case by sending him to the chair as he is innocent."

"He wanted to know if it would be possible for him to make a radio appeal to the public so he could urge anyone who knows anything about the case to come forward and tell what he knows."

Kimberling read from a written report made to him by Mayor and Douglas, the guards. Concerning Hauptmann the guards wrote:

"Hauptmann wants his son to grow up and to be honest and know that his father is innocent. He told us he was convicted for having money in his possession without knowing what kind of money it was."

The guards further quoted Hauptmann as saying:

"I have saved three lives in my life and now they take mine on built-up evidence."

Hauptmann Did Not Sleep The guards also reported that Zied, who was just before Hauptmann tonight, also told them that if he goes to the chair tonight the state will be doing away with an "innocent man." Zied was convicted of killing a detective in Camden, N. J.

Kimberling said Hauptmann did not sleep at all last night. Now and then he paced his cell nervously. Shortly before noon, C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defense counsel, who has put up a valiant battle for Hauptmann's life, visited the condemned man in his cell. Upon entering the prison, Fisher said:

Cast Ready For Presentation Of 'The Holy City'

Dramatic Biblical Production Will Be Given Here Thursday And Friday

LOCAL CITIZENS ATTEND THURSDAY

One of the most tremendous dramatic productions ever given in this city by amateur talent will be presented on Thursday and Friday evenings in The Cathedral by a talented cast from the Valley of New Castle Consistory, aided by some outstanding dramatic talent from this city, when "The Holy City" is given.

This production is expected to far exceed "Darius" which drew two big audiences to the Cathedral last year at the Easter season. Many of the leading characters who were in "Darius" will be seen in "The Holy City," and in addition there will be some new and exceptional actors in the new production.

Has Big Cast

Emrys Davis, of Mercer, takes the role of Herod, King of Galilee, while Elizabeth Glover plays the role of Herodias, queen of Galilee. Salome, her daughter, is portrayed by Nellie Kudelco, Westminster College student. John, The Baptist is played by J. Russell Urmon; and Elizabeth, mother of John The Baptist, is taken by Ruth G. Sample; Mary Magdalene, by Mrs. Lois D. Arnold.

Then there is a great cast of supporting characters, sixty in all, taking the part of the Disciples, high priests, soldiers, members of the Sanhedrin, etc.

Some of the district's leading vocal talent playing the part of nobles and ladies of the court and Jewish populace, will add to the splendor of the production with the choruses. The music is under the direction of W. W. Campbell, with Miss Lillian H. Sarver at the pipe organ, and Miss Dorothy Fisher at the piano. The production is directed by W. O. Rugh.

The intrigues which lead to the execution of John The Baptist, and the Crucifixion, are vividly portrayed, the drama ending with the tableau of the Ascension, showing the disciples and followers kneeling in awe and wonder at the sight of the Master being lifted up into the heavens out of their sight.

A small charge is being made for the presentation to pay for the expense of costumes, scenery, etc. Tickets can be procured at the Cathedral office, or from any member of the Consistory. General Chairman Albert B. Street announces.

It is desirable to have residents of New Castle and Lawrence County attend on Thursday evening, so that Friday evening can be reserved for those coming from a distance, assuring that the visitors will be able to secure seats, as two great audiences are expected to witness the play.

The dress rehearsal will take place on Wednesday evening, when the full cast will be present, along with the choruses.

Flying Cadet Dies In Crash

Fulton, Ky., Flyer, 23, Is Killed During Solo Flight In Army Plane

(International News Service) MT. CLEMENS, Mar. 31—Charles Edward Kramer, 23, of Fulton, Ky., a flying cadet in training at Selfridge field, crashed to his death while on a solo flight in an army pursuit plane near New Baltimore Monday.

Cause of the crash was undetermined. Kramer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kramer, has been stationed here a month, coming from Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex.

His ship, which was wrecked, was a P-26 type, one of the fastest in army use.

Former Chauffeur For Pershing Dead

(International News Service) MILFORD, Conn., Mar. 31—Rudolph Von Hacht, 43, former chauffeur for General John J. Pershing, was found dead Monday by his sister, a suicide by illuminating gas, according to police.

Von Hacht, discouraged and in ill health, told Mrs. Betty Rivers he was going to his room to bed. A few hours later she found him with a rubber tube connected to a gas jet in his mouth.

He resigned in 1935 from the police force after nine years service. He had returned home from Newington Veterans' hospital three weeks ago.

MARLIN IN ROLE OF PENN STATE COMEDY

William G. Marlin, this city, freshman at Penn State college, will be one of the supporting members of the cast of "Stocks and Bonds," a musical comedy which the Penn State Thespians will give Saturday evening, April 4 as one of the major entertainments accompanying the annual inter-fraternity ball.

Car Of Local Folk Hit Near Kittanning

Mrs. G. A. Rishel And Grandson Injured; Others Not Hurt

A Youngstown road lady and her grandson suffered injuries when the car in which they were enroute to Punxsutawney was sideswiped on Route 422 by an Ohio car 11 miles east of Kittanning, Sunday.

Mrs. G. A. Rishel and her grandson, Bobby, were hurt while the driver, Mrs. Rishel's husband, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rishel, escaped unhurt. The car was badly damaged when it was turned over by the sideswipe.

The party was enroute to see Mrs. Rishel's sister, who experienced the recent flood there.

Fifth Anniversary Of Calvary Church

Special Services Being Started In Observance Of Birthday

This day marks the beginning of thirteen days of worship and thanks-giving for the minister, members and many friends of the Calvary Presbyterian church in East New Castle, in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the church's organization.

Special services have been arranged for the anniversary period. Bible lectures will be delivered every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and evangelistic services will be conducted every evening at 7:30 including Saturdays. There will be three services on Sunday, at 11 a. m., 2:30 and 7:30 p. m., all of which will be conducted by Professor Frank Holden, of Binghamton, N. Y., assisted by the pastor, Rev. R. J. Fredericks, the four Bible students who are members of the church, vocalists and instrumentalists.

Large crowds are anticipated. Rev. Holden majors in Bible teaching from large linen charts of his own hand drawing. His subject for this evening will be "A Dark Picture in a Bright Frame," and for Wednesday afternoon, "Israel: Chosen and Called."

Preceding the short but encouraging and promising history of the church is that most interesting history of the East New Castle Mission which in 1931 became the present Calvary Presbyterian church. The mission was one of the many good results of the famous "Billy" Sunday campaign held in this city many years ago. Among the many converts of that campaign were James M. Rae, William C. Smith, Maurice Edmiston and William Butler. There men began and carried on a Sunday school mission in the old school building at East New Castle; in 1920 they finished and moved into their new building which is today the Calvary Presbyterian church. Much credit is given also to Mrs. Hannah Carnes for her loyal support. Able assistance was given by Rev. S. A. Kirkbride, D. D., of New Wilmington, pastor-at-large for the Shenango Presbytery.

In September, 1931, Raymond J. Fredericks was installed as pastor. Since then both pastor and people have joyfully witnessed the tripling of the membership of both the Sunday school and church. The congregation is contributing four young people to the ministry; they are now enrolled in Bible I: titute.

New Cleansing Cream for Dry Skins

DOROTHY GRAY CREAM 683

● You'll want to eat it, but don't! It's a luscious, double-beaten cream that softens your skin while it cleanses. Named after Dorothy Gray's famous 683 Fifth Avenue Salon, where it has been used with marvelous results for patrons with dry skins. Its penetrating qualities are remarkable, because it contains vegetable oils...and because double-beating breaks the oils up into such tiny, frothy particles.
